DENIES FAIR INJUNCTION—WITH AN 'IF'

Court Rules Shelby Can Close Street But Is Liable for Business Losses.

SAYS CITY RESPONSIBLE

Directors Go Ahead With Plans for Exposition But Admit Conditions 'Ticklish.'

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston ruled today that the city of Shelby is free to close its Main street for a street fair next week, but that the city would be responsible for damages for loss of business suffered by Ernest Brunk, radio store and filling station proprietor, who sought to prevent closing of the street

Refusing to grant the injunction, Judge Huston added, however, that "there is nothing in the Shelby city charter to empower council to close Main street for a fair. The city therefore would be held responsible for damages should the plaintiff (Brunk) decide to file suit against the city."

Go Ahead With Plans.

Meanwhile, directors of the fair board at Shelby indicated they would go ahead with plans for the annual exposition, scheduled for Sept. 7-19, but admitted holding the fair under the circumstances "would be ticklish."

Ralph Bly, a fair director and president of the Shelby Better Business club, which sponsors the fair, said he "believed it would be wise to go ahead with the fair this year, since plans already have been made to hold it as in past years."

George Hoffman, another director, and H. D. Kuhn, vice president of the board, said they thought "it would be wise to call a special meeting of the board to consider the matter before announcing a decision to go ahead."

Estimates $200 Loss.

Brunk, who testified at a hearing Saturday that his daily business during the fair last year dropped from $26 to $4, said he would seek a compromise with the fair board before filing a damage action.

He was quoted as saying, however, that if a settlement is not effected, he probably would ask "around $200" as the amount he estimated he would lose if Main street is closed for the fair.

Brunk's place of business is located on Gamble street, just off Main street. Closing of Gamble street at Main street had the effect of placing him on a dead-end street, and cut off the major outlet to his business establishment, he contended.

Law Director Theodore Lutz of Shelby and Atty. Van C. Cook of Mansfield, represented the city of Shelby. Brunk's attorney was George W. Biddle, Mansfield.

New Deal Gets Test In Western, Eastern States

(By Associated Press)

President Roosevelt's campaign for election of "Liberal" legislators was undergoing tests today in Democratic primaries on the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts.

Senators Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina and William G. McAdoo of California, were up for renomination, but only the latter bore presidential endorsement. Mr. Roosevelt had indicated clearly that he hoped Smith would lose to Gov. Olin D. Johnston an avowed New Dealer.

The turbulent South Carolina contest was the first to be decided in which the chief executive had appealed even indirectly for the defeat of an incumbent.

The outcome was being watched by politicians for its possible relationship to next month's primaries in nearby Georgia and Maryland, where the president openly advocated the defeat of Senators George and Tydings.

TESTS SPEED

Second Briton Delays Try for New Racing Record.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah. —(AP)— John Cobb, wealthy fur broker from London, who dashes across land at daring speeds because he likes it, sped his racing car over this white course twice today, but postponed an assault on the world speed record.

Cobb piloted his new creation, "Railton," over the 13-mile straightaway twice, then declared further tests were necessary before he officially seeks the record established here last Saturday by another Englishman, Capt. George E. T. Eyston.

Unofficially timed at approximately 300 miles per hour on the outward run and approximately 325 miles per hour on the backward trip, Cobb was far below Eyston's mark of 345.49 miles per hour.

ARRESTS OF 2 YOUTHS SOLVE HOLD-UPS HERE

Mansfielders Held in Lorain Admit Robbing Three Gas Stations, Police Say.

BOUND TO GRAND JURY

2 O. S. R. Fugitives Jailed at Johnstown, O., Confess Kidnaping Salesman.

Police Chief M. K. Bates said today that hold-ups of three Mansfield gasoline stations in recent weeks were solved late yesterday with the arrest and subsequent confessions of two Mansfield youths held at Lorain.

The youths, John Lee Asbury alias Charles Donovan and Sam Schambera, alias Sam Moran, both 23, are awaiting action by the Lorain county grand jury on robbery charges to which they pleaded guilty in municipal court at Lorain yesterday.

Quizzes Pair.

Chief Bates said Asbury told Capt. Jesse Schwab detailed to question the pair at Lorain, that he lived on West Fourth street in Mansfield. Schambera also told Capt. Schwab he lived in Mansfield, but gave no address.

Simultaneously with the confessions in the three robberies here, police were informed that two Mansfield reformatory fugitives had been arrested in Johnstown, O., and confessed kidnaping John Blake, 43, a Canton salesman, and forced him to drive them through central Ohio.

The abduction took place in Columbus and police there today said the reformatory inmates had been charged with robbery but would be sent back to the institution here to complete serving their sentences before the charges are pressed.

Sends For Fugitives.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of the reformatory said officers were to return the fugitives, Elmer McCurdy, 29, of Croton, O., and Merle Hickling, 25, of Jackson, Miss., today. They escaped from the reformatory on Aug. 14 where they had been trusties and had been working on institution farms. The customary penalty of a year's additional time will be ordered for both.

Relative to the arrest of the Mansfield youths at Lorain, Chief Bates said that robbery charges will be preferred against the pair here but will not be pressed until disposition of the Lorain case.

The pair obtained about $50 in each of the three Mansfield hold-ups, they told Capt. Schwab. The hold-ups were at the Gulf gasoline station at Park avenue east and Foster street, the Fairprice station near the Park avenue east subway, and at the Hi-Speed station on Lexington avenue. All of them took place since Aug. 1.

Chief Bates said the pair used a piece of glass tubing and a piece of gas pipe, faking they were armed in committing the hold-ups.

They were arrested as they slept in a hotel at Lorain and confessed a gasoline station hold-up at Elyria Saturday night.

Trio Pleads Guilty To Sunday Liquor Sales, Fined $150 Each

Proprietors of three taverns in Mansfield and Springfield township pleaded guilty to a charge of selling whisky on Sunday when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston this morning and were fined $150 and costs each.

The operators are Fred Miller, city councilman, who owns a restaurant at 151 Orange street; Frank Miller, proprietor of the Cloverleaf tavern, North Main street, and F. J. VanArnhem, proprietor of Van's tavern in Springfield township.

Before imposing the fines, Judge Huston warned the trio that "you fellows are going to drive yourselves out of business if you continue to permit employes to violate the liquor laws. Prohibition is certain to return if violations continue," he added.

Frank Miller and VanArnhem pleaded innocent when arraigned several days ago on charges filed by J. W. Eichelberger, state liquor investigator. Fred Miller has been on vacation in Michigan and was arraigned today for the first time.

Charges of selling whisky in bottles which had been filed against the three operators and the three employes who actually made the sales were dropped after the guilty pleas were entered. The employes were Joseph Miller, a son of Fred Miller; Merle Garver, employed at Van's tavern, and Robert Bair, an employe of the Frank Miller tavern.

Atty John C. O'Donnell represented Van Arnhem and Atty. George Blecker entered pleas for the Millers. The defendants made no comment in court.

'Drastic Action' Due In Eastern Pen Oven Deaths

Governor Says 'Guilty Will Be Punished' as He Orders Regular Checks of All Jails In State.

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Gov. George H. Earle announced today that Coroner Charles H. Hersch would take "most drastic action" at an inquest tomorrow to fix the blame for the "baking to death" of four hunger-striking convicts in the Philadelphia county prison.

Earle did not indicate what the "drastic action" would be, but said the guilty would be punished.

At the same time, Gov. Earle issued orders to prevent recurrence anywhere in the state of prison conditions he said were "worse than the Black Hole of Calcutta."

Regular Jail Inspections.

He announced that beginning tomorrow state police, acting as agents of the welfare department, would inspect once weekly the commonwealth's 70 county prisons and 500 local jails

If the inspectors find improper conditions, the governor said, they will report them to the state welfare department, which at first will make the conditions public and depend on popular indignation to force their correction.

If this fails, Earle said, the state may find "some legal means" to remedy improper treatment of prisoners, or bad conditions in jails ordinarily outside its jurisdiction.

Earle made his statement at a press conference.

The governor's conference was called after investigators started a check of death records at the prison to determine whether the "heat cure" in stuffy punishment cells has taken the lives of other convicts than the four hunger strikers found roasted nine days ago.

CALLS SPARKS

Duffy Summons Ex-Highway Engineer for Conference.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy announced today that he had asked Harry A. Sparks, former highway department engineer, to confer with him Wednesday. Duffy did not disclose the reason for the conference.

Sparks testified before the state senate graft investigating committee last winter that the state paid exorbitant prices for "hot mix" road materials. Subsequently, his position was abolished by Governor Davey. Duffy recommended last week that Sparks be reinstated.

The attorney general also said that he has written members of the board of university professors which recently criticized administration of the highway department in a report to the governor, asking them to come to his office to discuss the report.

Ex-Football Player Stops Madman on Ledge of Eighth Story.

NEW YORK—(U.P)—A fireman who once played football was credited today with a flying tackle that frustrated a madman's apparent intention to plunge from an eighth story ledge at Bellevue hospital.

The rescuer was Thomas J. Kehoe, member of a fireboat crew. He made his tackle on the two-foot ledge and pinned William Ahearn, 35, who for more than an hour lingered there, eluding rescue efforts. Fellow firemen swarmed through a window and pulled Kehoe and Ahearn to safety before their struggles had a chance to throw them both out into the street.

(By International News Service)

PRAGUE—An atmosphere of mystery today surrounded apparent cancellation of plans for a conference between President Edouard Benes and Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, arranged by Viscount Runciman in a new effort to mediate the Czech crisis.

Reliable indications were that Benes was to see Henlein today, but as the hours passed with no sign of the meeting, inquiries were directed to the presidential palace. It was officially stated there that the foreign press had been "misinformed."

It was officially admitted, however, that one of Henlein's aides may see Benes tonight or tomorrow morning.

FRENCH TROOPS DRILL ON BORDER

Cabinet OK's Emergency Decree Speeding Up Industries Making War Products.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—While motorized units of the French army began maneuvers close to the German border, the cabinet today formally ratified a decree increasing the hours of labor in national defense industries.

Acting in the midst of the heaviest war clouds in 20 years, the ministers labelled the decree urgent and made it applicable immediately.

The measure was signed by President Albert Lebrun and every member of Premier Edouard Daladier's cabinet as a symbolic act to show France's determination to carry out her treaty obligations to Czechoslovakia if necessary.

The decree gave the government virtual power to mobilize French industry for war.

It immediately lengthened working hours in national defense factories, in public services, and in plants working for "the public safety." And at the same time it gave the government the power to abandon the 40-hour week in every industry in France if necessary.

Passage of the decree came during a three and a half hour cabinet meeting in which Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet told the ministers

(By United Press)

LONDON — The British cabinet, in a momentous session today, decided unanimously that Britain is ready to go "the full limit" to prevent the invasion of Czechoslovakia, highly reliable sources reported.

The cabinet was said to have given Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, a completely free hand in all further moves.

LONDON—(INS)—In an almost unprecedented move, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today gave United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy a complete report on the Czechoslovak situation.

'Full Limit' Explained.

"The full limit," it was explained, would be extraordinary efforts to settle the Sudeten German problem amicably, with a warning to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler that invasion would mean war into which Britain scarcely could avoid being involved, along with France and other European democracies.

The British cabinet meeting was held simultaneously with that of the French, and it was obvious the two powers were working in close harmony along parallel lines. The French cabinet unanimously approved the policy laid down by Sheriff Holds 2 Hitch-Hikers in Shooting Case.

STEUBENVILLE —(AP)— Sheriff Robert D. Bates planned today to question two youthful hitch-hikers in connection with the shooting of Garrett B. LeVan, 59, husband of Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, former Republican national committeewoman.

LeVan, Steubenville gasoline distributor, was wounded in the right chest yesterday by a hitch-hiker who robbed him of $45. LeVan's belt deflected a second bullet from the assailant's small calibre revolver. LeVan's physician said his condition was not serious.

Sheriff John Kemp Thorne of adjoining Carroll county ordered two hitch-hikers taken into custody there held for questioning. He said the youths claimed to be from Steubenville.

WPA Adds 110 More, Reaches Quota of 480 on County Job

Approximately 110 more men had been put to work today on a WPA road improvement project in Butler township to complete the county's quota of 480 men on road and bridge jobs under $1,000,000 blanket program.

At the same time, WPA officials at Columbus announced today that 270,291 persons are employed on work relief projects in the state, an all-time high. Despite the record number of workers, 58,899 applicants for jobs are still unplaced, officials said.

County Engineer Howard C. Sword said most of the men are employed on four major projects, three for road improvements and the other on a bridge program in Worthington township. Road construction and repair work is in progress in Butler and Washington townships and on the Bowman street road north of Mansfield.

Sword said the present employment level in the county probably will be maintained until cold weather forces the road department to halt operations about Thanksgiving A few of the projects, he said, may be re-opened next spring.

Although the county and city quota of 970 men under the $1,000,000 program has not been reached, projects under consideration in Mansfield and Shelby probably will supply jobs for the remainder of the men awaiting assignment.

Bezdek Has Line Worries

New Additions Expected to Strengthen Cleveland But Prospects Are Doubtful.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Joe Doakes, the great grandstand manager and downtown coach, today is bitterly disappointed at the Indians' [illegible], but he won't be surprised or too disappointed if the Cleveland Rams end up near the bottom of the National Football League standings.

For the Rams, unlike the Indians, have no place to go but up. Last year, with a new, makeshift team, they finished in the cellar with but one game won. This year they have the pick of the college draft, a few outstanding veterans, and some pretty good material picked up in trades with other clubs.

League Is Tough.

The outfit will be far better than last year, but Joe Doakes doesn't expect it to win the championship. The National League is tough, very tough, and it takes years to build a winner. All Joe expects to see is some pretty good football, but he won't mind watching the victories the Rams may win.

The first string Ram lineup still is a matter of question, even to white-haired Coach Hugo Bezdek, but there are a few stars sure to make up the backbone of the team.

Certain to play in the first string group are Ed Goddard and Johnny Drake, ball-carrying stars, holdovers from last year.

Goddard and Drake will see action Friday night when the Rams tangle with the Ohio college all-stars in a charity go at Cleveland Stadium. A good many other Rams will see action too, and it is likely that performances in the all-star game will go far toward making up the team that will play in the championship season.

Two of the National League's nine players from last year's University of Arkansas team are likely to find themselves playing a good deal of big time football their first year out. They are Jim Benton and Ray Hamilton, ends, and from this distance they look like top flight material.

Alphonse's Back.

Jules Alphonse, the Minnesota halfback who played with the Rams last year, also seems pretty sure of his place. In fact, it isn't the backfield or ends that worries Bezdek. The worry, of course, is the line.

Last year the Rams' line was woefully weak, and it is here that most of the rebuilding is being done. Art Lewis, new tackle and assistant coach, is a decided asset and is almost certain of a regular berth. Gerry Conlee, the former Galloping Gael, has been transformed from a center to a guard in another effort to strengthen the forward wall. Chuck Cherundulo is pretty certain of his center spot again this year.

Mildred, her team mates and opponents were claiming a "record" today and there was no indication anyone had bettered their mark. The two teams played 14 hours and 20 minutes, starting at 5 a. m. (CST) and quitting at 11:20 p. m.

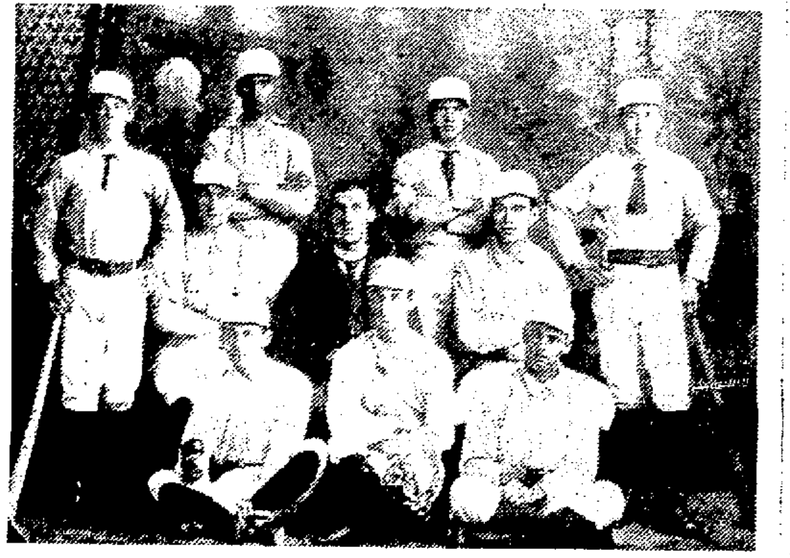
City Champs—50 Years Ago



BASEBALL interest was at a high peak in Mansfield 50 years ago this month, Andy Dorian, once an outstanding baseball figure in the city, recalled today.

This was the year the Bowerys and House Apes dominated the Mansfield baseball scene, and the game between these two clubs to decide the city championship was quite an event.

The House Apes were the betting favorites for this all-important game. They had won something like 33 straight ball games. The Bowerys had 18 straight victories to show on their record.

Many old-time Mansfield baseball fans remember the game. Details are not available, but the Bowerys won the game, 7 to 4, and the championship.

An old print of the Bowery team, recently discovered by Dorian, is shown above. The Players, front row, left to right: Charles Dill, outfield; George Dill, catcher, and Willie Wirty, pitcher; second row—Andy Dorian, third base; Albert Wolford, second base, and John Ryan, first base; third row—George Herring, shortstop; Charles Robertson, catcher and utility; Will Stevens, outfield, and Albert Warren, outfield. All of the members of the team are dead except Dorian, Herring and Warren.

'Masters Win Behind Davis

Pitcher Stars With Arm, Bat in 11 to 0 Triumph.

Bob Davis did about everything but carry the drinking water to the dugout yesterday as the Schoolmasters trounced the Wesco club, 11 to 0, in a postponed Y. M. C. A. Club softball league game at North park.

Davis hurled for the Schoolmasters, and the score tells he must have had something on the ball. He gave up only three hits, and only one Westinghouse player got as far as third.

Davis also swung a hefty bat yesterday. He collected two doubles, a triple and single as he hit safely every time up. Scoles blasted out three hits to help the winners' cause.

'Pop's' Ready for Tygers' Kick-Off

By OSCAR RUHL

'POP' ELLIAS has been on the job in the equipment room at Mansfield high for about a week. Everything is in shape for the initial football drill Thursday A. M. Tyger candidates will blossom out in brown (or is it light tan, Mr. Murphy?) practice ensembles this week, not to mention additional protection equipment. New practice paraphernalia includes specially-built thigh guards and knee pads. "Murph's" not taking any chances of running into a batch of injuries . . . Harry Mehock returned over the week-end from a vacation jaunt to Illinois, rarin' for the first practice . . . Bob Silsby has a pretty good idea how a golfer feels when he hunts for a lost ball. The Hi-Speeds' outfielder lost his glove chasing a fly ball Sunday, and the game with the Legionnaires was held up about five minutes before he found it . . . Football championship talk is already being heard over in Sandusky, where Bob Whittaker has only three lettermen to replace. Prospects for one of the best teams in history are encouraging, we understand, but the news is very discouraging to Mr. Murphy, whose Tygers, you know, again take on the Blue Streaks. Reports from Canton way are not very cheering for Murphy, either. McKinley also has state title ambitions.

GREYHOUND was never heralded on the arrival in a city with more newspaper space than Roy Dickson's Grace Crispin in Columbus, where the champion trotter yesterday showed she wasn't overpublicized by winning the $1,000 Moores-Ross stake at the state fair . . . Don't take those stories about the Australians purposely losing the national doubles title to the Budge-Mako duo as strategy in connection with the Davis Cup series seriously . . . Robert Campbell of Euclid is the only player without college experience in the pro football ranks. He's with the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . Yellow golf balls have been recommended to reduce losses and some manufacturer may take the tip one of these days . . . Freddy Carver lost the toughest game of his pitching career to date when the Becker-Ross [illegible] were handed a 1 to 0 setback in the 11th inning of a state tournament game in Elyria . . . You don't see any better pitching anywhere than the kind Ad Geiger, Don Dudley and "Seddy" Stahl delivered on the mound at League park Sunday. Geiger and Dudley gave the Hi-Speeds six points in the titular twin-bill. Stahl gave the Legionnaires only three safeties in the nightcap, but lost, 1-0 . . . What's happened to the Cincinnati Reds? Are they doing a Cleveland, too?

LOOK for Sammy Baugh to make the college all-stars dizzy with his aerials Wednesday night . . . And the Cubs are still a better bet to win the National league pennant than most folk realize . . . The newly formed Mansfield tennis association deserves a big slap on the back for the fine job it did in assisting The News-Journal with it's tennis tournament . . . Giants' Staff Weakened for Buc Series

TOMMY HENRICH . . . Hits five in three days.

Terry Has Nothing Better to Offer as Starter Than Coffman Today.

By BILL BONI
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

THE final tip-off on the sick and weakened condition of the National league's best assortment of active hospital cases, the New York Giants, was offered today when Boss Bill Terry brought his limping crew face to face with the league-leading Pirates and had nothing better to offer as a starting pitcher than Dick Coffman.

Not that Coffman isn't a good pitcher. He's been worth his weight in world series tickets as a game saver, and already has come out of the bull-pen 41 times this season. But the last time he started a game was back on June 28, 1936, in his first season as a Giant. And, sad to relate, he was belted out of the box by the Chicago Cubs.

Emergency Measure.

It happens, however, that Terry is hard up for pitchers, let alone an able-bodied one, and starting Coffman in the opener of this "make-or-break" four-game series with the Bucs is just the latest in a series of emergency measures.

The Giants' mound staff, once the pride of the league, really is in bad shape. Since Carl Hubbell won his last game on Aug. 13, five days before he went to the sidelines for the rest of the season, only three starters have gone the route, Bill Lohrman, Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert.

Lohrman was belted to the showers in his next two appearances; Schumacher won his game on Sunday despite the fact he was suffering from a more serious arm ailment than afflicted Hubbell, and Gumbert, like Lohrman, also was driven to cover his next two times out, the second time yesterday, when the Reds beat him, 6-3.

It's a question just who will benefit most from this Giant-Pirate series. If the Giants should manage to take off the bandages and win all four, they'd be only a game and a half off the pace, with a chance to catch the up-and-down Buccaneers when they return east. If it's anything else than a clean sweep, the Cubs suddenly may be in the contending position.

Pie Traynor definitely had his boys on the up-beat yesterday when they handed the Dodgers a 10-1 trimming that was all over after the third inning, when Pittsburgh was leading by 8-1. Cy Blanton hurled effectively for his 11th decision.

Adds Home Runs.

The Yankees, meanwhile, pulled another full boat length out front of the American league's seven-team second division. Lefty Gomez's 15th victory and sixth in a row, coupled with Tom Henrich's 19th homer and fifth in three games, beat the Browns, 8-4. Since Boston meanwhile was taking a 15-1 shellacking from the Tigers and Cleveland was beaten 6-4, by Washington, the Yanks went 14 games up on the Red Sox.

The Bees, Cardinals, Phillies and Cubs in the National league, and the White Sox and the Athletics in the American were not scheduled.

Allen to Toil Against Macks

Hopes to Snap Six-Game Losing Streak Today.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Johnny Allen, Cleveland hurler, has a job of work to do today, namely, to snap a losing streak on the hill against the Philadelphia Athletics in the first game of the club's Quaker City series.

Allen has been beaten six times since his last victory on July 29. Connie Mack picked George Caster to oppose the Tribe's firebrand.

Oscar Vitt's one-time hopefuls lost a chance at Washington to gain a game on the second place Boston Red Sox. The Senators took the Indians' measure, 6 to 4, while Detroit swamped the Red Sox, 15 to 1.

Washington reached pitchers Whitehill, Jungels and Humphries for eight hits, including Al Simmons' 18th home run of the season in the second frame. The senators scored once in the third and again in the fourth.

The game was put on ice in the fifth when Washington scored twice on a walk to Lewis and singles by Travis and Bonura.

Sox's Joe Cronin, Veteran at 31, Playing Best Game of Career

By WALTER L. JOHNS
(Central Press Sports Writer)

LET'S TAKE time out from talking about Johnny Vander Meer, Johnny Allen, Lefty Grove and the home run race and put in a few words for Joseph Edward Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox and the only bona-fide playing manager still in the major leagues.

Joseph, long considered the tops among shortstops of modern times, is now in his 13th year in the majors and is playing the best ball of his career.

One of Frisco Tribe.

Joe, only 31 now, still has plenty of active baseball left in him. As a manager, he rates as a shrewd, business-like man, as proved by his piloting the Washington Nats to the pennant in 1933.

As a player, Joe is the place-hitter of old, daily getting his usual bag of singles and doubles. He is swatting currently at a .328 pace. His fielding has been up to the old standard.

Joe, who came to the Red Sox in 1934 for a reported price of $250,000, is one of those natural ball players. The Red Sox sockeraoo is another of the tribe of hitsmiths who did their teething in San Francisco.

Record books list Joe's birthdate as Oct. 12, 1906. He was an all-around athlete in grade school, outstanding in baseball, tennis, soccer and basketball. After playing on his grade school team and wiping up the town's best short pants' outfits, our Joseph went to Sacred Heart college. The Cronin team won the city title.

Although Joe has a major league life batting mark of.301, he has not been an outstanding slugger. His one best year was 1930, when he hit for .348 ·

One of the tightest races ever staged in The News-Journal Class A golf league was brought to a close at Possum Run yesterday.

Only one important change was made in the standings in the final day of play as the Richland Printers, who won the championship last week, coasted to the finish without fear.

The Yuncker Sports leaped from what appeared to be a certain second division finish by defeating the DeLuxe Cabs, 5 to 0, to replace their yesterday's foe in third place.

In the other matches, the Matthes Clothiers won over the champion Printers, 2 to 1, with one match postponed, and enabled them to gain a tie for fifth place with the Big Three Beers, beaten 4 to 1 by the Goldsmith Clothiers.

The News-Journal stars continued their spectacular scoring right up to the finish. Medal winner in the final day of play was Al Kushin of the Sports, who came through with a 34.

Ted Etzel of the Printers smashed out a 35, and Frank Cipris of the Big Three Beers had a 36.

Redskins Hold Weight Edge

Pro Champs to Average 208 for Wednesday's Game.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The professional football champion Washington Redskins will pit an 11 averaging 208 pounds against Bo McMillin's "pore li'l all stars" at Soldier field tomorrow night.

Headed by 260-pound Turk Edwards, captain and all-national league tackle, that is the weight of the team Coach Ray Flaherty has selected to start the fifth annual charity game.

The weight advantage (the average weight of the college all-stars named in a nation wide poll to start the game is only 195), plus Sammy Baugh's passing, and the added experience of the professionals made them the favorite to break the series tie. The collegians and pros each own one triumph. Two games have ended in deadlocks.

The Redskins boast of the finest passing team in the professional league and its 1937 title attests to its scoring ability. The All-Stars, too, are confident of their offense and in the passing of Colorado's Whizzer White, Purdue's Cecil Isbell and Arkansas' Jack Robbins.

Johns Park Scores Eight In Sixth to Triumph

Defeats Prospect Foe, 8-3

Johnnies Can Win 2nd Half League Title Thursday in Second Series Game.

JOHNS PARK drew first blood in the series to determine the second half champion of the City Class A softball league yesterday when it defeated Prospect Park, 8-3, on the losers' field.

The second game of the series will be played at Johns park at 5:30 p. m. Thursday, and another victory for Manager Johnny Flockenzier's Johnnies will not only decide the half honors, but the league title.

Johns Park won the first half title, and no play-off to determine the league championship will be necessary if it triumphs again Thursday to add the second section to its collection.

Just One Inning.

The Johnnies needed just one inning to turn back the Prospectors. They tallied eight times in the sixth frame, and they were all that they needed.

Although yielding 10 hits, Jimmy Fullager was virtually invincible in the pinches, as he was given splendid support by his teammates. Fullager, who was knocked out of the box the last time he faced the Prospectors, turned in five strike-outs.

Ted Frisbee opposed Fullager. He gave up one less hit than the Johnnies' ace, but was unusually wild. Eight passes—three coming in the fatal sixth—were issued by the Prospect right-hander.

Here's the way the Johnnies tallied their runs in the sixth: Kenny Ross, first up, walked. Harry Ross reached first on Falk's error. Bride drew a pass to fill the sacks. Bowen was safe when Smith dropped his fly in center, K. Ross scoring. Lewis walked, forcing H. Ross home. Bride was forced at the plate by Mahoney. Bill Ross singled to score Bowen. Ralph Carver, Hunt and K. Ross singled in succession to score four more runs.

Prospect held a 3 to 0 lead before the Johnnies broke out in their scoring rash, and never scored again as Fullager became more effective than ever.

Hits for Circuit.

The losers tallied their first run in the second on successive doubles by Frisbee and Falk. Al Stickler's home run gave them another in the fourth. The last tally for Prospect came in the fifth when Judy, who had singled and advanced on Longshore's hit, scored on Weber's infield out.

Kenny Ross was the only Johns park player to obtain more than one hit. Frisbee, Smith and Thoma collected two hits apiece for the losers.

Points Toward New Speed Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah—(AP)—The sleek, squat automobile in which John Cobb hopes to set a new speed mark was trundled onto the salt flats for its record attempt early today.

Clouds that threatened rain lifted somewhat and Cobb said he expected to make a run. The London fur broker seeks to break the record established here Saturday by his compatriot, George Eyston—345.49 miles an hour for the measured mile.

Rain yesterday forestalled Cobb's first scheduled attempt at the record.

STOCK PRICES GO UP AS WAR FEARS LIGHTEN

Market Retrieves Fractions to Around Two Points of Monday's Losses.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—(AP)—War tension lessened a bit in the financial district today and the stock market retrieved fractions to around 2 points of Monday's losses.

Virtually all departments participated in the come-back, with steels, motors, rubbers and specialties favored.

Foreign securities markets took on a brighter tone, apparently reflecting a revival of hope that a general conflict would not be touched off by the German-Czech controversy. Bonds and commodities improved.

Reports from merchandising fields indicated August department store sales may reflect the smallest margin of decline from the 1937 level of any month of the year, with the exception of January and April. Dollar volumes for the past four weeks were placed at about 8½ per cent under the like period a year ago.

On the basis of initial freight loadings statements for last week, transportation observers believed railway shipments pushed up to a new high for the year to date. The previous high was in the week ended July 16, which was coincident with an extensive movement of the winter wheat crop.

of the latest developments in the central European crisis.

Tension in Europe growing out of the seeming deadlock between Germany and France's ally, Czechoslovakia, over the autonomy demands of the Czechoslovak German minority was generally discussed here as the most serious crisis since 1914.

Charge Britain Stages 'Build-up.'

BERLIN — (AP) — Nazi officials fixed their attention today on the emergency session of British cabinet ministers, contending Britain had organized a dramatic build-up to put blame on Germany should the Czechoslovak-Sudeten German minority negotiations break down.

"A latent crisis is threatening to become acute," said the Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz, semi-official organ of the foreign office which complained Czechoslovakia had done nothing concrete to give the Sudeten Germans their rights.

"The Czechs have been handing out programs and assurances for the past 20 years, but all they had in common was to confirm them in the power to lord it over other nationality groups," the publication said.

The presence in London of Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, to give a personal report of German feeling intensified here the British deliberations.

Chancellor Hitler, meantime, continued his inspection of Germany's border fortifications, and was expected to visit all such military zones from Aachen, near the Belgian frontier, south to near Basel, Switzerland.

The Fuehrer yesterday visited Kehl, opposite Strasbourg, France, and a communique said he "was greeted by troops and the populace with indescribable joy" everywhere that he stopped.

WINTER DÉBUTANTE
IN A HEALTHFUL GAS-HEATED HOME

There's a busy winter ahead for this little lady. Although it's her second one in this world — in a way it's her debut. Last winter she was confined to her tiny crib but this year she'll be "coming out" in a big way. She'll be going places all over the house. She'll not find drafty floors and uneven temperatures much to her liking—to say nothing of how such health hazards will jeopardize her chances of becoming a robust youngster. If this little debutante is "coming out" this winter in your home, make sure that inside temperatures are always uniform and healthful by installing automatic gas heat. Request a free heating survey made of your home now. Find out how reasonable the cost of gas heat really is — how very much worthwhile its countless advantages can be to your family.

Extensive Sidewalk Reconditioning Program Okayed

COUNCIL ACTS TO ENLARGE WPA PROJECT

Relaying and Realigning of Walks Allowed Instead of Building New Ones.

An extensive program of relaying city sidewalks was authorized by city council last night when action was taken to enlarge the city sidewalk program to permit reconditioning of flagstone walks as a PWA project.

Council approved a charge of two cents per square foot against property owners for relaying flagstone walks which have become out of alignment forming dangers to pedestrian traffic.

Extension of the program permits property owners to have flagstone walks aligned in place of having new concrete walks constructed. Alignment can be accomplished if the stone material is in good condition, it was pointed out.

Inspector's Pay Boosted.

Embodied in the same legislation as a salary increase for Todd Patton, city sidewalk inspector. His salary was increased from $125 to $150 per month. The flagstone relaying program will more than double responsibilities in the inspector's position, Glenn Weller, city engineer, told council.

In other business before council at its special session last night, final legislation was passed authorizing the improvement of Forest street from Marion avenue to Bartley avenue with concrete, brick or sheet asphalt material.

An ordinance authorizing the issuance of $11,000 in notes to pay property owners' share of the cost was also passed.

Two fund transfers were approved. One authorized the transfer of $2,000 from the gasoline tax fund to the street maintenance and equipment fund. The other was for the transfer of $250 from the general fund to a fund financing the inventory of Mansfield real estate, a WPA project, for the balance of the year.

A petition from Chilton avenue property owners requesting a reduction in sanitary sewer assessments was directed to the sewer committee for investigation.

Hanefeld Grins As Weather Hikes Fair Attendance

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Gates of the Ohio State fairgrounds were closed to automobile traffic at 9:45 a. m. today because of the large crowd which had arrived by that hour.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Grinning gleefully, State Director of Agriculture Earl H. Hanefeld cocked an eye at the skies and predicted an attendance of 75,000 persons today at the Ohio State fair—if the weather remains good.

"By golly," he exclaimed, "this is the best weather we ever had for the fair."

The attendance yesterday was estimated at 50,000, or 15,000 more than on the corresponding day of last year's exposition.

A major event on today's program was the heavyweight horse-pulling contest in which 10 of the world's best teams were to compete. Besides the huge variety of exhibits, other attractions for the visitors were the sheep-shearing elimination contests and the milking contest for girls between 16 and 21.

Judging of exhibits hit its full stride today.

Up and Down THE STREET

Times change little so far as the average man's worries are concerned. At least that's what the high school graduates' orations and essays of 40 years ago indicate. A bound volume of the commencement speeches of the members of Mansfield high school graduating class of 1897, which has been uncovered at the office of Supt W. L. Miller, shows that troubles in those days were similar to those of the modern area. There was no New Deal, but gradutes wrote and spoke on "Monopolies," "Ballot Reform," "Civil Service Reform," and "Rearmament."

The showing here of the film based on the life of Marie Antoinette brings to light the fact that buried under a pile of antiques in a home here is a musical instrument which is believed to have been in the possession of the ill-starred queen at one time. Roy Antibus, South Main street, bought the little instrument more than 20 years ago in a second hand store in Ashland and no one knows its history. It is intricately put together and when he took it apart to tune it, he found this inscription: "Made for The Queen of France". There was no date, and only the word "PARIS" on the outside, but by comparing its sawbuck legs with those that were used in Marie's time, it was believed to have been made for her. It is of rosewood inlaid with brass, tween a small square piano and a and is something of a cross beharpsichord.

A charge of breaking and entering was placed against Joe Yuncker and a charge of receiving stolen property was filed against Earl Smith, North Franklin avenue, simultaneously with the chief's announcement.

Bates said Yuncker and a companion opened a lock on the door at the Mosberg residence with a steel drill and stole $80 in cash, three guns and a watch. Yuncker's companion is now being held by Sandusky authorities in connection with an attempted hold-up there, Bates said.

The chief said Smith is charged with having received some of the property stolen.

NINE ASHLAND SCHOOLS OK'D

State Department Refuses to Approve Other Rural High With Enrollment of 12.

ASHLAND — Nine of the 10 rural high schools in Ashland county today had been approved by the State Department of Education to operate during the 1938-39 school year, and to share in distribution of state school foundation funds, O. H. Maffett, county superintendent of schools, announced.

The state board refused to approve Albion high school in Jackson township, Maffett said, and as a result the school wil not be given a charter and will not share in the state foundation funds.

The building is a three-year high school, has an enrollment of 12 students, and employs two teachers. Despite the state ruling, the Jackson township board of education has announced that it will not close the school and will operate it without state aid.

Supt. Maffett was informed by the state that Albion was not given a charter "because facilities in the school were not sufficient to give the pupils the education they should have."

The school also failed to receive approval last year but the ruling was vetoed by the board of control of the state department of education, following a visit from delegation of the Jackson township board.

High schools given approval are located at Loudonville, Jeromesville, Perrysville, Hayesville, Savannah, Ruggles, Nova, Sullivan and Polk. They will open in the next week.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (AP) — Thomas H. Leary, policeman and unwilling candidate for Democratic convention delegate, is about ready to bow to fate and let himself get elected.

Leary was nominated while he was away on his vacation. Since then he has campaigned against himself. He even interviewed several defeated candidates in past elections—to find out how to lose votes.

INVENTORY PUTS VALUATION OF MELLON ESTATE AT 37 MILLIONS

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— The estate of Andrey W. Mellon, wealthy financier and former secretary of the treasury, today was evaluated at $37,000,000 in an inventory and appraisement filed with the register of wills.

Far less than the amount conjectured as the value of his estate soon after his death at Southampton, L. I., Aug. 26, 1937, the estate, except for a small portion of it, is to be turned over to the A. W. Mellon Educational and Charitable trust, to be devoted to charitable and educational purposes.

In the inventory filed today was listed approximately $35,000,000 personal property. This appraisal excluded Mellon's real estate holdings, which are estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

His charitable trust now is constructing a $15,000,000 national gallery of art in Washington to house the art collection that has been given to the nation. An endowment trust of $5,000,000 also is to be used for future acquisitions of works of art.

Soon after his death, Mellon's will disclosed that no bequests were made to his children, Paul Mellon and Mrs. K. E. Bruce, because they had received direct gifts during his lifetime.

City officials pointed out that work on the street improvement will be started in about 10 days.

Japs Reject U. S. Protest on Plane Attack

SAY TRANSPORT SHIP ACTED LIKE MILITARY PLANE

Tokyo Says Incident Involving American Gunboat Has Been Amicably Settled.

(By United Press)

TOKYO—Japan rejected today the United States protest against the "unwarranted attack" on a Chinese commercial airplane by Japanese naval planes.

The commercial airliner acted "suspiciously like a military craft," the reply said, and because it was operating within the war zone marked by the Japanese high command the naval planes pursued it as an enemy craft.

The spokesman for the foreign office said that the protest was rejected on factual grounds.

12 Passengers Killed.

The plane, owned by the China National Aviation corporation, in which Pan-American Airways has a substantial interest, was forced into a crash landing in the Pearl river near Macao on Aug. 24. At least 12 Chinese passengers were drowned. The pilot escaped injury.

The spokesman revealed at the same time that an incident involving the explosion of two mines close to the United States gunboat Monocacy, on the Yangtse river near Kiukiang, has been settled amicably.

The Japanese authorities readily admitted that naval planes attacked the airliner, but insisted that they had reason to suspect the ship was engaged in military activities.

The Monocacy last was reported three miles below Kiukiang, in a safe anchorage.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Hardly a Good Word For U. S. Has Been Heard In Italy Since November '36

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Last week a newspaper in Milan, Italy, speaking by authority of the Italian government, called this country a nation of gangsters.

Last Sunday the New York Times reprinted from another Milan paper a cartoon showing five armed and masked hoodlums, one of them pointing a machine gun, driving along an American city street where a group of Russian communists, armed with bombs, gave them a fraternal salute.

On the same page the Times published a dispatch from Camille Cianfarra, of its Rome bureau, which said that since 1936 "the Italian press has been printing articles and news showing the worst aspects of American life."

"As for the American people as a whole," Cianfarra wrote, "according to an article in the April 3 issue of the Corriere Della Sera, the 'majority of them are ignorant and irresponsible'."

* * *

Quoting from the "widely read" magazine Omnibus, Cianfarra reports that "the American man is naive, slow-witted, gross, obtuse and bent only on profit and physical competitions," while the American woman "values everything, even a man, in terms of dollars."

These and all other expressions of a similar kind, all hateful, many of them deliberately vicious, are not expressions of individual Italian editors and artists. They are expressions of the Italian government authorized through its press bureau in Rome.

Every line of copy, every cartoon or photograph that goes into an Italian paper is an expression of the Italian government and is in effect as much a state paper as though it had been issued under Mussolini's own signature.

* * *

The campaign against this country and its people has been persistent and increasingly bitter ever since President Roosevelt in his Chicago speech cited the dictators as international disturbers and accused them of destroying confidence in international agreements—provable charges, both.

Cianfarra writes that it can safely be said that hardly a good word about the United States generally has been heard in Italy since November, 1936.

In plainer terms, a blackmailer government sets as the price of its forbearance from slander and abuse of this country and its people, including those who call themselves Italo-Americans, complete submission to a course of conduct which menaces the peace and lives of Americans and silent approval of any predatory outrage which Italy may commit anywhere. American acquiescence, even by silent consent, is a valuable thing to a marauder, because American prestige is great.

* * *

Denied this aid for her designs, present and future, Italy has resorted to the common method of the blackmailer and relies on the racial feeling of immigrant Italians and their near descendants in the United States for sympathy. Mussolini flatters American citizens who edit Italian newspapers by letting them regard themselves as unofficial interpreters of the great Duce and unofficial resenters of any retort to his savage abuse of the American people.

All Americans, of whatever origin or strain, owe resentment to Mussolini and the Italian government as at present conducted for vilification of their country and its people. For all who count themselves American are included in the unremitting, conscienceless calumnies directed against this country by the Italian government through a press which is formally defined and strictly conducted as an official means of national expression.

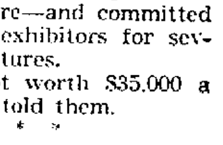
* * *

Nothing that has been published in the American press in retort to some of the more wanton expressions in Mussolini's press has even approached the reckless and cynical hatred of the Italian press campaign against the United States.

On the contrary, the American press has made allowances for a warlike state of mind and local Italian problems which may not be fully understood here. It also has restrained itself out of the elaborate consideration for the sensitiveness of Americans of Italian birth or descent who realize that Italy hates the democracy which they enjoy and love but distinguish between the Fascist nation and the people who comprise that nation and serve its warlike leaders.

Does any Italo-American editor or leader take occasion to defend his country against the bitter anti-Americanism of Italy, where hardly a good word has been heard of the United States since 1936? Why all the solicitude for Italy?

Hollywood Speaks---



—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Gary Cooper talking:

"Bein' a star's no different. Same old stuff. Just makin' pictures. . . ."

Speaking for himself, as he was, he was right.

I'd just watched him go into a love scene with Merle Oberon for "The Lady and the Cowboy." He wasn't any different from the Gary Cooper I've watched going into scenes countless other times.

The setting for this one was romantic: A vine-hung stone summerhouse overlooking a Florida bay. So was the subject: Merle looking as lovely as Miss Oberon can look, rich auburn tresses gleaming, eyes shining, filmy white gown flowing. Merle playing a vine (for the scene) more clinging than the art department's trellised tendrils.

Was Gary feazed? Waiting for the scene to start, he ambled around like a gracefully animated telephone pole. He joshed a little with the folks. Once in a while he laughed, out loud from deep down.

* * *

When Director "Hank" Potter motioned, Gary indicated but didn't say: "Wait a minute, I forgot something." And hastily he added the Cooper touch to the Goldwyn touch on the summerhouse. High up on a stone among the vines he parked his chewing gum, then followed Oberon into camera range. . . .

There isn't an actor who doesn't like to work with Cooper—probably because Gary doesn't act like an actor. I'll bet he's never been the life of any party.

Jack Moss, his smooth and rotound manager, is his buffer. Jack does the necessary arguing about scripts and money. To outward appearances, at least, Gary doesn't seem to care.

Gary's pretty smooth on his own, though, and never doubt it. There was a time at Paramount when a new contract deal came up. Gary was newer then, no so famous. There was some talk of dropping him from weekly salary, paying him by the picture. They offered $35,000 a picture—and committed themselves to exhibitors for several Cooper pictures.

* * *

They couldn't convince him that he was. He wanted to think it over. He left town for a while. He came back.

"I've been thinkin'," he told them, "that if I'm worth $35,000 to you I ought to be worth $50,000—and of course I'm not worth that."

When he came back he got—$70,000!

"Money?" he told me today, being positively garrulous for Cooper. "Money? Well, taxes are levelin' things off pretty much. . . . A man's got to watch expenses and cut corners. All I'm hopin' to do is put aside something for a rainy day. That's all any man can hope to do now. . . . I like to do simple things that don't cost dough. . . . Oh, a lotta things. . . . Night clubs? Once in a while. . . . But I feel sorry for people who've got to have a lotta noise to think they're havin' fun. . . ."

You'd like Judge Cooper's boy Gary.

75 Expected for Initial Workout

Prospects For 1938 Season Doubtful Due to Heavy Losses Suffered By Graduation.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

EQUIPMENT CUSTODIAN "POP" ELIAS made a last-minute inspection of football paraphernalia at Mansfield high school today.

Tomorrow morning something like 75 aspirants for berths on the 1938 gridiron juggernaut will don equipment for the first practice of the season.

Nine o'clock is the time set for the first workout by Coach Russ Murphy, and there will be no delay in getting preparations under way as he had only 13 days in which to whip a club together for the first game with Akron West, Saturday, Sept. 17.

Faced by one of the toughest schedules ever arranged for a Mansfield club, the Tygers' prospects are more doubtful than usual this season.

Lacks Experience.

Murphy will have more than a fair number of lettermen back in harness, but the team as a whole will lack experience. The loss of such outstanding players of last year as Johnny Hallabrin, John Kinkel, Joe Majoy, Dan Stehle, Elmer Dials, John Horvath, Daryl Heiser, Warren Rupp, Barney Adams, Bud Zeigler and others will be keenly felt.

Nagel

Many of the inexperienced players showed much promise in the spring drills, but their development may be retarded to some extent as fundamental work will be sacrificed for drills which will be more beneficial for the team as a whole.

Murphy has no idea how his new lineup will function, but he expects to have a fair line on how the club will stack up after the first week of workouts.

The Tyger tactician plans experiments at a couple of positions, but may alter his plans before the Akron tussle arrives.

The backfield will include many new faces. Not a single ball toter who saw service in the opening game last fall will be back.

Capt. Rich Nagel heads the list of backfield candidates. Nagel started the season last year as a center, but was shifted to the backfield in the middle of the season, and saw regular service in that department thereafter.

Other returning backs who saw some service last autumn are Ike Smith, who will probably handle the spinner post; Marshall Smith, Howard Hershey, Ted Bush, Ed Kinkel and Grover Swoyer.

Included in the backfield lineup this year is Dick McMullen, who showed great promise as a tackle last fall. Weighing around 200 pounds, McMullen can be used to advantage in the ball carrying department because of his speed, Murphy believes.

Leading Candidates.

Morning drills are planned daily by Coach Murphy until school opens a week from today.

Tonight's Grid Game To Be Aired by WHK.

Tonight's football game between the Washington Redskins and College All-Stars in Chicago will be broadcast at 8:15 p. m. via the WJZ-NBC network. Included among the stations planning to relay the game are WHK, Cleveland, and WGN, Chicago.

ADDS 9 IN 9TH

CANTON —(AP)— Canton tightened its grip on first place in the Mid-Atlantic league last night by banging out nine runs in the ninth inning to defeat Akron, 9 to 1.

Only Hitting Can Keep Os' Men In Fight

Pitching Again Falters as Tribe Beats A's.

PHILADELPHIA —(UP)— Oscar Vitt will have to depend upon consistent hitting by his Cleveland Indians if he expects the Tribe to overtake the second-place Boston Red Sox before the season closes.

The Tribe nosed out the last-place Athletics, 10 to 8, yesterday after Johnny Allen, once the ace of the American league, had been pounded from the box in his eighth effort to hang up his No. 13 victory. Johnny Humphries relieved him and received credit for the win.

And while the A's pounded Allen, the Indian fielders gave another terrible performance in the field and contributed three errors to the scoring.

Bright spot of the day was long-range hitting by Bruce Campbell and Jeff Heath, two young outfielders who may figure heavily in any 1939 rebuilding plans for Cleveland.

Heath pounded his 10th and 11th homers of the season and knocked in four runs. Campbell had a double, triple and a home run and crossed the plate three times.

The winning runs were counted in the eighth inning when Averill walked, Trosky doubled and Hale singled, to put the Tribe ahead, 9 to 8. Campbell's homer added the final tally.

Willis Hudlin, veteran moundsman with a spotty record for the season, was scheduled to hurl for the Tribe today with Edgar Smith doing mound duty for the Mackmen.

REX BILLIARDS PLAY AT WEST SALEM SUNDAY

The Rex Billiards, who defeated Perrysville, 9 to 8, last Sunday, will go to West Salem for a double-header next Sunday, Manager John Stoner announced today.

Utah, Coast Golfers Lead Amateur Qualifiers

(By Associated Press)

If the returns from a day's firing on 31 golf courses mean anything, the old familiar faces will be in the fore when the battle for the National Amateur championship starts at Oakmont on Sept. 12.

For 156 qualifiers plus 14 players exempted from the qualifying rounds, a group that includes eight ex-champions and the defending champion, Johnny Goodman, will form the field of 170 at Oakmont.

Leaders for yesterday's play were Ven Savage, the long hitting Magna, Utah, golfer who holds the trans-Mississippi championship, and Roger Kelly of Los Angeles, twice California amateur champion. Savage scored 134 on a 69 and a 65 to clip ten strokes from par at Salt Lake City while Kelly set a course record of 134 with a 66 and a 68 at Los Angeles.

The qualifying rounds were good to Walker cuppers. Three more qualified with Ward at Bethel: Harry Givan, Seattle, 70-72—142; Jack Westland, Seattle, 74-70—144, and Scotty Campbell, 68-77—145.

Although he didn't come close to leading the field, Ray Bellows, Poughkeepsie, last year's amateur runner-up, came in under the wire in the Metropolitan play with 150. This was seven strokes off the pace set by Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., who carded 72-71—143 to lead 16 qualifiers from a field of 89, largest of the day.

Knox Young, jr., of Pittsburgh, led 12 qualifiers there with 71-69—140 and the little known Jim Fraster of Atlantic City added a course record 67 to a 72 and led the Philadelphia field with 139.

Qualifiers at Cleveland were: Dan Carmichael, Columbus; Eddie Meister, Cleveland; Bob Bingham, Cleveland, and John W. Roberts, Columbus.

Qualifiers at Cincinnati were: Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., Cincinnati; Bobby Service, Dayton; Billy Deupree, jr., Fort Mitchell; Bob Sulzer, Hamilton county, and John Busemeyer, Wyoming.

Ohio Seniors Arrive for 2-Day Tournament

THE invasion of Mansfield's Westbrook Country club by Ohio Senior association golfers got under way today. The two-day medal tournament will be launched Thursday morning, and Secretary E. D. Baxter of Mansfield expects the largest field ever to compete in the 10-year history of the affair.

Approximately 100 golfers ranging in ages from 50 to over 80 will participate in the 36-hole affair, with 18 holes on schedule Thursday and the same number on Friday.

The defending champion is E. W. Phelps of Cleveland, who shot rounds of 79 and 83 to win the tournament last year with a 162 gross.

In addition to the defending king, the field will include F. H. Pelton, also of Cleveland, who won the tournaments in 1935 and 1936. Pelton finished second last year with a 165 total, three strokes ahead of A. I. Davey of Mansfield.

E. C. Edwards of Toledo, H. D. Smith of Cadiz and D. P. Williams of Cleveland, who finished in a tie for fourth place in 1937 with 169's, are also expected to return.

C. F. Ransom of Coshocton, who was the oldest player in the tournament last year at 81, is expected to play again this year.

The tournament is divided into six divisions, with the players graded according to their age. A player must be over 50 years of age to be eligible.

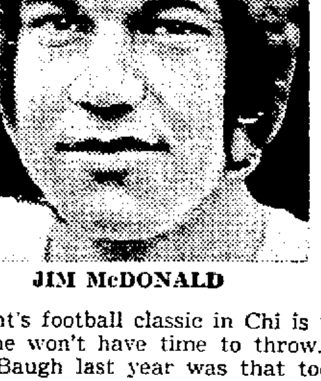
The annual dinner and meeting of the association, which has held nine of its 10 tournaments at Westbrook, will be held in the clubhouse at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

E. M. Ayres of Zanesville is president of the association, B. B. Williams of Mt. Vernon, vice president, and Baxter, secretary-treasurer. The tournament committee consists of T. R. Barnes, chairman; W. J. Spreng and L. W. Olson, all of Mansfield.

RANDOM SHOTS

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

WITH the town marshal serving as umpire, Perrysville baseball games should be orderly affairs. . . . Bus Hawkins forgot to report the colored Elks' Sunday game at Hayesville, even though his team won, 9-8, in 13 rounds. . . . Bob Castor, who really socks 'em on the nose, and Dick Cline battle for the Ashland Country club title Sunday. It should be a battle worth seeing, too. . . . Incidentally, did you know that Mansfield is a suburb of Ashland? It is in the rule book of the Ashland club. This means that Mansfielders no longer can buy non-resident memberships. . . . This department agrees with Bill McKee that the Ashland college sign painter needs a proofreader. Heidelberg is spelled "Heidilberg" on the football sign in front of the college.



JIM McDONALD

Ab Jenkins must be in a hurry. He's finishing up a car which he believes will be capable of doing 400 miles an hour. . . . Bo McMillin's plan to stop Sammy Baugh in tonight's football classic in Chi is to keep him so busy dodging tacklers he won't have time to throw. Chief criticism for the failure to stop Baugh last year was that too much attention was paid to the receivers. Look for Ohio State's Jim McDonald and Ralph Wolf, who have a system all their own for scenting a pass, to see a lot of service with the all-stars.

Brad Smith, who won the N. C. O. low board diving title at Liberty park Sunday, is not a Mansfield high school boy. He's from Lakewood high, where he starred in the "220." Russ Von Wieder, Liberty manager, can take a bow for the development of Smith.

Vitt's Not Surprised That Indians Flopped.

ALTHOUGH disappointed, Os' Vitt was not surprised when the Indians flopped. He contends that no team can win a pennant without a good keystone combination. Maybe you've noticed that his present duo, Hale and Lary, are slated for the block. . . . Jack Johnson, now 61, boasts to friends that he could give Joe Louis a whale of a fight for four or five rounds. . . . University of Michigan's coaching staff, headed by Fritz Crisler, will conduct a football clinic at Toledo's Waite high field Thursday, Sept. 8, starting at 4 p. m. It will be free, too . . . except for a 60-cent price on a dinner to follow.

Dale McKinley Fans 17 In Seven Frames As Cagers Win, 12-0

Dale McKinley ran his strike out total for the season to 381 as he hurled the Musille Cigars to a 12 to 0 victory over the Elyria C. T. Alumni at Elyria last night under the lights.

McKinley struck out 17 in the seven inning game and allowed only two hits as he outpitched the 14-year-old mound sensation, Stubby Bell, who hurled the Elyria team to a city championship recently. Bosko and Kinney, with three hits apiece, led the Mansfield club.

Bell recently won a 1 to 0 pitching battle from Mike Bodner of Ashland.

By STEVE SNIDER

CHICAGO—(UP)—The odds were 2 to 1 today that Slingin' Sammy Baugh of Washington's world champion Redskins would outpass Byron (Whizzer) White or anyone else in the fifth annual charity all-star game tonight under the floodlights of Soldier Field.

The Whizzer, a passing, running, kicking genius from Colorado, is the chief offensive hope of the collegiate squad picked by 8,000,000 fans in a nationwide poll.

Plan To Rush Sam.

What defense Coach Bo McMillan of Indiana and his staff of four have worked out to stop Baugh has been kept secret. One thing is sure, Baugh will be rushed as he hasn't been rushed since he left Texas Christian university.

Retirement of Cliff Battles, last year's league leading ground gainer, left Washington weaker on attack. Injury to Ed Justice and Don Irwin, two other veteran backs, also hurt.

Both Marty Schreyer, Purdue tackle and Perry Schwartz, California's great end, will be unable to play for the All-Stars. Fred Shire, Nebraska tackle, will replace Schreyer and John Kovatch of Northwestern likely will start at Schwartz' end.

Backs To Be Juggled.

The backfield probably will be juggled shortly after the kickoff. Andy Puplis of Notre Dame, Andy Uram, Minnesota, Cecil Isbell, Purdue and Frank Patrick of Pittsburgh will start but Indiana's Corbey Davis, best battering back of the squad, White, Pinky Rohm of Louisiana State, Joe Kilgrow of Alabama, Andy Farkas, Detroit, Jack Robbins of Arkansas, and Elmore Hackney, Duke, all are ready to step in.

If the All-Stars can score first Jim McDonald of Ohio State and Fred Vanzo, Northwestern, two alert Giants, may be rushed in to protect.

NEW KIND OF TIRE GIVES QUICKEST NON-SKID STOPS YOU'VE EVER SEEN

DANGER AHEAD!
A fire engine streaks across your path. In wet road emergencies like this a SILVERTOWN STOP may save your life!

Golden Ply Blow-out Protection, too

● Children running across the street! Cars darting out in front of you! No matter how carefully you drive—time and again on rainy days you're suddenly faced with wet road emergencies—where only the quickest possible stop will save lives.

And remember, unless the tires on your car have this new Life-Saver Tread you're being cheated out of the real stopping power that's built into your brakes. Because the never-ending spiral bars of the Life-Saver Tread act like a battery of windshield wipers. They sweep the water right and left—force it out through the deep grooves—make a DRY TRACK for the rubber to grip. And, adding one safety feature to another, this new Silvertown is also the only tire that gives you the Golden Ply—the famous Goodrich invention that resists the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds—protects you against those high-speed blow-outs.

Remember, you can prove to yourself that a SILVERTOWN STOP is the safest, quickest stop you've ever had. Come in today for a free demonstration ride. And, for safety's sake, make your next tires Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

PROOF! From 3 Months' Road Tests by America's Largest Independent Testing Laboratory

"BOTH regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers were submitted to a series of exhaustive road tests made over a three months' period by us, to determine their resistance to skidding and wear, with the following results:

"NON-SKID—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

"MILEAGE — The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19.1% more miles before the tires wore smooth."

PIRATES, PLAYING .500 BALL, HOLD NATIONAL LEAGUE EDGE

By BILL BONI
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WILL TERRY the soft-spoken hardshell from Memphis, insists the Pittsburgh Pirates aren't backing into the National league pennant.

Since the Pittsburgh Pirates stretched their margin to six and a half games by scuppering Terry's Giants, 7-1, yesterday, the man obviously had to say something in self defense.

Just Standing Still.

He may, for that matter, be speaking the truth. But it's a cinch that the Pirates, if not backing in, aren't doing much more than standing still and letting the pennant come to them.

The Aug. 1 standings saw Pittsburgh in front by five games, the Giants second by two and a half, and the Chicago Cubs third by one over Cincinnati. Since then the Giants have crawled along at a .444 pace, the Cubs have played .533 ball and the Reds .548. Yet the Pirates as of today, had picked up only a game and a half on the Terrymen.

The solution is simple enough. Pie Traynor's Buccaneers, who have been making the opposition walk the plank one afternoon only to go off the deep end themselves the next, have split even in the last month on 15 victories and 15 defeats. Just as a basis of comparison, the Yankees over the same stretch won 28 out of 35, for an .800 percentage.

If Pittsburgh has been worrying about meeting the Yanks in the World Series—and who, outside of an armored car, wouldn't?—they also might start worrying now about the Cubs and the Reds.

The Giants definitely are in no condition to provide anyone but Terry with headaches. Dick Coffman, the "experimental" starting pitcher, was slugged all over the lot yesterday, and, as if Bill didn't have enough on his mind, Dick Bartell reported with a lame elbow so that the infield had to be juggled again.

While the Pirates were pasting the Giants to a fare-the-well, the Reds rallied twice to whip the Dodgers, 5-4 and 7-4, thus moving up five percentage points behind Terry's tottering crew and four behind the Cubs, who lost an 8-1 decision to Milkman Jim Turner and the Boston Bees.

Effective pitching marked the Phillies - Cardinals doubleheader, with Max Butcher bearing down in the pinches to edge out the Cards in the opener, 4-3, and Clyde Shoun hurling one-hit ball in a five-inning relief trick as the Cards took the nightcap, 8-7, in the tenth.

Handsome Pitching.

American leaguers also accounted for two handsome pieces of pitching. Spud Chandler, after being nicked for a run in the first, shut out the Detroit Tigers the rest of the way as the Yanks won their fifth straight, 3-1, and John Duncan Rigney of the White Sox held the Senators to six hits in gaining a 3-2 verdict.

The Indians outslugged the Athletics, 10-8, with the help of two home runs by Jeff Heath and another by Bruce Campbell, and the Browns drubbed the Red Sox, 9-5, for Ed Cole's first mound victory of the year.

WIN SECOND ROUND NET MATCHES AT ARMORY

Francis Brown, W. Scheifley, E. Martin and Dr. D. A. Weir were returned the victors in the second round matches in the Armory tennis club tournament. Brown defeated J. Linsenmayer, 6-3, 6-4; Scheifley won over Dr. Philmour Bein, 6-1, 6-3; Martin eliminated Dr. F. J. Heringhaus, 7-5, 6-4, and Dr. Weir trimmed Paul Lee, 6-1, 6-2.

BRASS TEAM RALLIES TO TRIM MORHAN MARKET

Scoring four times in the seventh and twice in the eighth, the Mansfield Brass softball club edged the Morhan Market, 10 to 9, at Taylor's field yesterday. T. L. Lindsay of the Brassmen and B. Shade of the Market hit for the circuit.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Secretary of the Board of Control of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, at his office in the City Hall until 12 o'clock, Noon, Eastern Standard Time, September 9, 1938, for the improvement of the Mansfield Fire Department by the construction of a building to house No. 2 Fire Station, located at the site of the present building on North Main Street at the Erie Railroad, Mansfield, Ohio.

Separate proposals will be received for General Construction, Plumbing, Furnace Heating and Electrical Wiring. Each proposal must contain the names of the parties making bid and all parties interested therein, and accompanied by certified check payable to the Director of Service, City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the amount of five percent of the bid and drawn on a solvent bank, as surety that if the proposal be accepted, a contract will be entered into. If bid is rejected, the check will be returned to the bidder.

All proposals must be on blanks furnished by the Architects, Althouse & Jones, or the Director of Service. Plans are on file with the Architects and a copy at the Office of the Service-Director. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

EARL A. NIST,
Director of Public Service and Safety.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the returns and assessments of real property of Richland County, Ohio for the tax year 1938 have been equalized and revised by the Richland County Board of Revision. The values are completed and are open for public inspection in the Real Estate Department of the County Auditor's office, Mansfield, Ohio.

Complaint against any values or assessments of real property, except values and assessments made by the Tax Commission of Ohio, will be heard by the Richland County Board of Revision at the Court House in Mansfield, Ohio at its next regular meeting.

Complaints must be made in writing by the owner of the property on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed at the Auditor's office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year.

Many property owners are of the opinion that real estate is appraised at a certain per cent of its true value. This is erroneous as the Constitution and Law of Ohio provides that real estate be appraised at 100% of its true value. In making the present equalization of values the Board of Revision has attempted to carry out this law on a reasonable basis.

The willingness of a complainant to sell property at the assessed value does not necessarily constitute a reason for reduction nor does the purchase price of a property at a forced sale necessarily fix the tax value. The law requires consideration of all factors and the Board must consider rental, sales, reproduction costs, asking price, book values, insurance values, amount of mortgages, etc.

Since the last actual reappraisal in 1925 a blanket reduction of approximately 40% has been allowed on all real estate values in the County. Since that date a great many changes in the value of real estate have occurred. It is the object of this appraisal to recognize these changes and to assess each property on as fair basis as possible.

The Auditor, upon request, will furnish to any person the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate upon receipt of postage and last tax bill.

NORMAN L. WOLFE, AUDITOR
RICHLAND COUNTY.

TRADERS WATCH VOTE RESULTS, FOREIGN NEWS

Notice Slack in Revival Pace in Developments at Home; Steel Encouraged.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Forces making for a rally had the edge by a slight margin in the stock market today.

Traders felt their way cautiously pending better insight into the outcome of the European suspense over Czechoslovakia. Wall Street also scanned the results of the California and South Carolina primaries for hints on the way political winds in this country were blowing for the November congressional elections.

News from home industrial sectors harped on the summer recovery theme, although a slowing of the revival pace was noticeable in some lines.

The "Iron Age" said building construction was absorbing a large share of the steel industry's attention. With no indication of a move to reduce wages in line with mid-year steel price cuts, the trade publication said the industry was concentrating on efforts to raise the operating rate in hope of attaining profitable levels.

Electric power output declined a little last week but the comparison with 1937 continued to improve. The year-to-year loss was 7 per cent against 7 2 the week before.

The eight men, who left here Friday on a fishing expedition down the northeast Mexican coast, returned last night after wading 11 miles across shallow water to the mainland.

Shaken by their two-day battle against terrific winds and weary from their long hike and hunger and thirst, they told a harrowing tale or lying face downward on a dune while the gale whipped sand over them

CAVE HERMIT INDIFFERENT, HE CAN'T TELL WHO'S PRESIDENT

(By United Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Frank Krowl, 41-year-old "Hermit of Woodlane," who lives sublimely alone in a tiny dugout along a railroad track, has never heard a radio or ridden in an automobile and does not know who is president of the United States.

Maintaining a complete indifference to everything that goes on in the world about him, Krowl, who served with the American army during the World war, sums up his philosophy of life with:

"What does it matter?"

A tall man, with cold blue eyes beneath shaggy brows, Krowl's raiment, corduroy trousers and a pair of rubber overshoes. For nearly 10 years he never has shaved or cut his hair. It hangs down to his waist in long, matted disarray.

Krowl was born in Poland and came to America in 1913. After his army service in the war, he worked at odd jobs in Seattle, Wash., and then came to Philadelphia to begin his life as a hermit.

"What difference where you live?" he said. "All land is the same."

He eats anything he can find, searching for food with a long stick which he pokes into rubbish cans and trash heaps. He has no money, for, as he says, money means little to him.

Krowl did not collect his soldier's bonus because when he went to the place where the checks were being given out he found the office closed. He never went back.

"I like it away from people," he explains. "I don't need money. I've got everything I need."

Expectant Mothers Barred By Hospital Fighting Outbreak

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(AP)—Nurses at St. Mary's hospital watched carefully over six babies today, guarding against spread of an infectious dysentery outbreak which caused the death of three infants in a maternity ward.

Sister M. Carola, superintendent, closed the ward last night to expectant mothers "for at least two or three weeks." She said staff physicians had asserted that dysentery was "fairly prevalent" in Huntington and added:

"I did not feel like taking the responsibility of keeping the department open. The remaining mothers have been isolated."

Hospital staff members expressed the opinion that the disease spread from a mother. They said death followed within a "few days" after the infants became ill.

Three other infant deaths in the hospital in the past ten days were attributed by Sister Carola to other causes.

The couple left for a short wedding trip, and upon their return Mr. Kennedy will resume his studies in law at Ohio Northern university.

Mrs. Kennedy has been employed as bookkeeper at the Farmers and Citizens Bank and Savings company.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the returns and assessments of real property of Richland County, Ohio for the tax year 1938 have been equalized and revised by the Richland County Board of Revision. The values are completed and are open for public inspection in the Real Estate Department of the County Auditor's office, Mansfield, Ohio.

Complaint against any values or assessments of real property, except values and assessments made by the Tax Commission of Ohio, will be heard by the Richland County Board of Revision at the Court House in Mansfield, Ohio at its next regular meeting.

Complaints must be made in writing by the owner of the property on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed at the Auditor's office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year.

Many property owners are of the opinion that real estate is appraised at a certain per cent of its true value. This is erroneous as the Constitution and Law of Ohio provides that real estate be appraised at 100% of its true value. In making the present equalization of values the Board of Revision has attempted to carry out this law on a reasonable basis.

The willingness of a complainant to sell property at the assessed value does not necessarily constitute a reason for reduction nor does the purchase price of a property at a forced sale necessarily fix the tax value. The law requires consideration of all factors and the Board must consider rental, sales, reproduction costs, asking price, book values, insurance values, amount of mortgages, etc.

Since the last actual reappraisal in 1925 a blanket reduction of approximately 40% has been allowed on all real estate values in the County. Since that date a great many changes in the value of real estate have occurred. It is the object of this appraisal to recognize these changes and to assess each property on as fair basis as possible.

The Auditor, upon request, will furnish to any person the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate upon receipt of postage and last tax bill.

NORMAN L. WOLFE, AUDITOR
RICHLAND COUNTY.

SCHOOLS GET AUTHORITY TO BORROW FUNDS

City, County Boards Notified They Can Issue $106,000 in Notes Under State Plan.

Mansfield and Richland county school boards today were authorized by State Education Director E. N. Dietrich to borrow $106,247 in anticipation of a future allocation of school funds under the state foundation program.

Mansfield schools are eligible to borrow $51,079 and county rural schools, $55,168. The Shelby authorization totals $12,381.

Dr. Davis Sutton, sate director of school finance, said the authorization for further issuance of notes boosted the foundation program deficit to $16,346,281, and warned that this might be the final authorization to borrow unless legislative action is taken to remedy the financial condition.

Expect Cash In Few Days.

Cash from the state department to retire $45,000 in debts already contracted by the Mansfield board is expected within a few days, Dr. John H. Bristor, board clerk, said today.

He added that it would not be necessary to use the authority to borrow immediately—at least not until the other notes are retired.

The state department of education's plan for issuing notes in advance of allocations has been in effect for several months, due to the lack of funds to meet the quarterly distributions to school boards.

The same highway from Millersburg to the point where the contemplated work will start was completed last October which will make the improvement from Millersburg to Loudonville city limits complete.

The Richland county Republican executive committee is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p. m. today at party headquarters in the Mohican building, to act on by-laws to be submitted by a committee named by Ralph Hardy, executive chairman.

Runciman, British Advisor in Czechoslovakia, Fails to Bring About Conference.

ended when a bitter verbal controversy arose as to how it had started. The Czech ministry of interior claimed the fighting began when Sudeten Germans attacked Czech workers laboring on new fortifications along the Czech-German frontier.

Fritz Koellner, Sudeten deputy who recently issued the order to members of his party to fight in "self-defense," charged in a direct statement to the interior ministry that Czechs were responsible for the outbreak.

A mob of Czechs, he claimed, armed with clubs, assaulted the German residents of Gadelsdorf, thus precipitating the riot.

Runciman Develops Plan.

The apparently frustrated meeting between Benes and Henlein was arranged as a result of a two-hour conference between Lord Runciman, unofficial British mediator, and the Czechoslovak president.

Benes was understood to have asked Runciman if it was possible for him to re-establish contact with Henlein.

Runciman also was said to have developed a plan for a round-table conference among members of the Czech cabinet and representatives of Henlein's party.

ASKS PARLEY ON GIFT CHARGES

Utilities Commission Chairman Seeks Conference With Franklin Prosecutor.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Charles F. Schaber, chairman of the State Utilities commission, asked Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett, of Franklin county, to confer with him today about charges that two commission engineers accepted gifts from the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

Schaber said that the two men, Louis F. Dabe, head of the gas and electric division of the commission, and O. F. Foster, an engineer, issued a blanket denial to the charges.

John L. Davies, city attorney, and John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, charged Dabe received a stove and Foster a gas refrigerator from the company.

Both engineers assist in surveys by which rate schedules set by the commission are influenced.

Schaber said that in his opinion receiving of such gifts did not constitute a criminal offense and he asked the prosecutor to confer on the case.

ASKS OFFICIALS TO INVESTIGATE PERSONAL TAX

Plaintiff in Suits Against Four Properties, Names County Heads in New Petition.

Naming County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and County Treasurer John E. Kolb as defendants in his taxpayer's suits against the owners and executors of four Mansfield properties, Michael Hallabrin, Mansfield, today filed amended petitions asking the county officials to investigate the alleged non-payment of personal taxes by the property holders.

In his original actions, filed several months ago, Hallabrin contended that the property owners and executors obtained exemption from paying personal property taxes from 1926 to 1930 under a state law which later was declared unconstitutional.

Asks for Penalties.

He now asks the county to list the amount of tax which was due for that period and to levy penalties on the unpaid balance.

Defendants in the cases are Harry S. Black, J. A. Rigby, the Citizens National Bank and Trust company as executor of the estate of the late Burton Preston, and Donald S. Black and others as executors of the late Frank B. Black.

Examination of the county tax books by counsel for Hallabrin was halted recently by an order from Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, after Atty. Joseph A. Bayer, representing the plaintiff, had started to check the payment of personal tax on the properties involved in the suits.

The bid of the Roger J. Au and company set up a price of $11,209.20 for concrete, $11,694.20 for T-50, and $13,518.20 for brick with a sand cushion, and $13,632 for brick with a slag cushion.

Other Bids.

The Mansfield Asphalt and Paving company bid $11,978 for concrete, $12,648 for T-50 and $14,073 for brick with a sand cushion and $14,130 for brick with a slag cushion.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said contract awards will be made later.

He said no decision has been made as to which type of pavement, concrete, brick or T-50, is to be used.

Bids on the project were opened by the board at noon yesterday.

City Engineer W. C. Statler said that bids were "considerably under cost estimates."

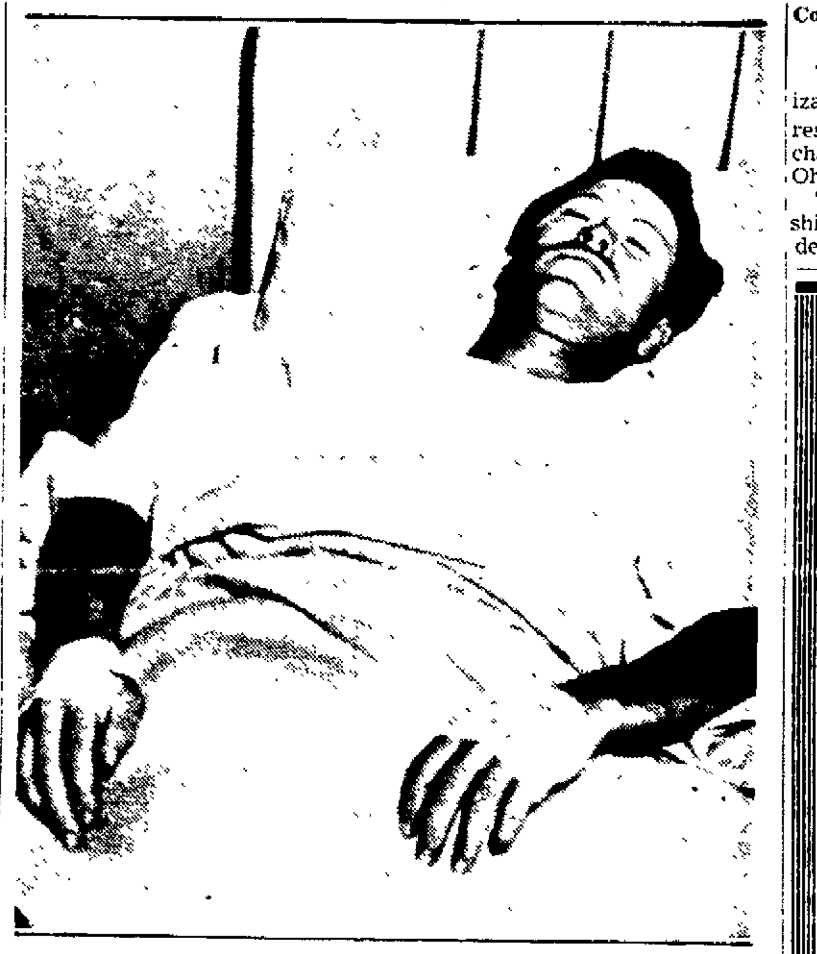
INDIANS OBJECT TO IMITATORS

Protest When White Men Attempt To Stage Ceremonial Dances.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(AP)—After the appearance of white men dressed as Indians in Milwaukee's Midsummer Festival Harold Wilde, representing the festival, received a protest from Francis Coleman, Chippewa Indian Recorder for the Consolidated Tribes of North American Indians, in this city.

"Ugh," Coleman wrote. "Milwaukeeans get disgusted when we witness the sorry spectacle of white men trying to imitate us in our ceremonial dances. It can't be done and the sooner that is realized the better it will be for future pageants."

Nailed to Cross, Left to Die



Pictured in hospital in Reno, Nev., is Edward Collins, 27, ex-convict who wanted to go straight. Two ex-pals tried to lure him back into stealing, and when he refused, nailed him to a crude wooden cross, left him to die in screaming agony. Nails were driven through his insteps and palms of his hands.

DOCTORS' SERVICES AND PRESCRIPTIONS

JOHN C. DAVIS, Druggist

Most of the many menaces to life could be avoided by consulting a doctor now and then. Waiting until a serious illness compels you to seek his services is pretty much like daring you on the chin—he might do yo uon the chin—he might do it.

A medical doctor can detect signs of bodily disorders before specific indications, discernible to you, have reached an acute stage—and prescribe the protective measures.

His prescriptions are more seriously written than is the Congressional Record and should be prepared by a pharmacist of high standing in his profession.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1938.

Those who planned to get something special done in August still have tomorrow to put it off.

Those Englishmen are not so slow after all—especially when one of them gets in a racing auto on Utah's salt flats.

Blessing of Open Frontiers.

BRIDGES and roads are symbols They go somewhere. They represent traffic of people as well as things. They connect places for business and social intercourse. They are especially significant when they connect neighboring countries.

In Europe today most of the highways stop at the frontiers. Where countries are separated by rivers, there are few bridges, and most of them are closed, or used only with great caution and formality.

That is why the bridges and roads between the United States and Canada are so significant. They represent a traffic of things and people and ideas almost as free as that between our own states. Customs regulations are light, and interpreted in a friendly spirit. Americans who have toured abroad are astonished at the ease with which these two North American neighbors visit and communicate with each other.

Present relations with Mexico are not quite so good, but this phase will doubtless pass. Normally the Rio Grande is as little of a separation to our two nations as is the St. Lawrence or Detroit river or Puget Sound. And it is the same with nearly all of the more distant neighbors of this hemisphere.

The Complicated Security Problem.

MANY factors enter into problems involved in the broad term, "social security," which make solution difficult.

When the ideal of nation-wide social security is presented, either as a humanitarian objective or a political bait, there is an assumption of a fair degree of equality in industry, thrift and competence on the part of those who have not been able to lay aside enough to care for themselves during the declining years of life.

It is also taken for granted that each who is to later become a beneficiary under social security has, at some time in his life, made a fair contribution in the form of some kind of necessary work sufficient to meet his share of the surplus required for later public maintenance of himself and his dependents.

Upon whom, then, rests responsibility in such a case as presents itself in Kansas City, where the 40-year-old mother of 14 children is now in a hospital awaiting arrival of the 15th baby?

This woman is the wife of a WPA worker who is paid $45 a month. A picture is shown of the 3-room shack in which the family lives. They have two automobiles and three dogs.

With the possible exception of the extent of fecundity, this instance is not unusual. It has numerous counterparts among poverty-ridden and mentally defective families all over the country—with apparent acceptance of an idea that it is God's purpose to let the earth eventually be peopled by a proponderance of idiots, imbeciles and morons.

Unless those who CAN think, DO think—AND THEN ACT, through their legislatures, in stemming the tide of potential dependents on the contributions of workers the next generation will face an even more intolerable condition than now exists.

Wanted: Ten Philosophers.

ARCHBISHOP JOHN T. McNICHOLAS of Cincinnati, in a speech to the Knights of Columbus, proposed that they give their country and their church ten trained philosophers in the next ten years. "The coming intellectual battle," he said, "in our country is to be fought in the field of philosophy."

> "These men may wish to be physicians, lawyers or journalists. They may wish to engage in business. They must first be persuaded to give three years of their lives to philosophical studies.
>
> "If in the next ten years you could give America ten laymen who had a thorough training in philosophy, you would do a meritorious work of priceless value to our country and to the church."

This may have a strange sound to ears accustomed to hear men trained along academic lines ridiculed as "brain trusters" when they are called to serve their country. But it is not so astonishing to those who have grown accustomed to Dr. Alexis Carrel's idea of the hundred trained minds whom he would like to see giving their lives and energies to advancing the powers of humanity.

And, indeed, it is the philosopher, the "lover of wisdom" in the literal sense of the word, who alone is detached enough to see life as it is—who can, in the phrase of Matthew Arnold, philosopher of the nineteenth century, "see life steadily and see it whole."

'Perfect Boy' and His Diet.

THERE is a nine-year-old boy in London whose physique has been described as perfect by doctors examining him. This is his regular diet:

Breakfast, after a long walk, one slice of pineapple; lunch, baked spinach and onion pie with a thin crust of whole wheat flour, cheese and milk; supper, two apples, one orange and two small tomatoes.

The parents also are vegetarians. The boy has splendid health and endurance.

Undoubtedly the regime quoted has been good for this boy. He thrives on it. Probably, also, most people, old and young, would be better off for a diet coming nearer the boy's than that of their habit, especially in the matter of more fruit and vegetables.

But an isolated instance of this kind does not prove that most boys and girls could get along, thrive and do their school work, on meals no fuller than these. The important thing to know about food is that the body chemistry of one individual differs from that of another. Climate, too, and heredity play their part. A varied diet, taking in meat, fish and eggs, with plenty of fruits and vegetables added, with not too great dependence on starch, nourishes most people best in North America.

Watching Trends

While Preston Grover is on vacation, persons prominent in the official and political life of the nation and in journalism are conducting this column. Today's guest column is written

By CHARLES EDISON
Assistant Secretary of the Navy

WASHINGTON — The expenditure of any public money is a responsibility. When the amount involved reaches $50,000,000 the responsibility is definitely great. But when the $50,000,000 or more is to be used to purchase a battleship there is a dual responsibility—first to see that the public gets a dollar's worth of ship for each dollar of the purchase price, and second, to be certain that the battleship purchased has all the desirable characteristics to make it of maximum usefulness in the defense of our country throughout its 26 or more years of service.

This responsibility is divided. The general board, composed of experienced flag officers, determines the characteristics which include tonnage, armament, cruising radius, speed, vulnerability, etc.

The technical bureaus study the general board characteristics, work up general and detailed specifications, provide plans and conduct various tests in the model basins, at the boiler and other laboratories, at the naval experiment station, in ordnance plants and in outside commercial plants. This work crystalizes in the form of plans and specifications which are furnished the prospective bidders several months in advance of bid openings, to enable them to make proper estimates.

* * *

Buying a Battleship.

IN THE actual buying of a battleship the basic law which governs is the Vinson-Trammel act of March 27, 1934. In any contract in excess of $10,000, this law provides for reports in detail to the secretary of the navy on costs and for payment into the treasury of profits in excess of 10 per cent of the contract price. It further provides against subdivision to avoid the restrictions of the act. The act was amended June 24, 1936 to allow the losses of one year to be carried over for the next succeeding income taxable year in determining excess profit, if any.

In addition to the Vinson-Trammel act, there are incorporated in all building contracts the provisions of the Walsh-Healy act of June 30, 1936 which specifies prevailing wage rates and overtime wages for more than 40 hours work a week be paid by the contractor. The Bacon-Davis act makes similar wage and hour provisions for labor on the government's own work.

Then still further acts and restrictions, such as Buy-American provisions, and restrictions as to awards to lowest bidders, complicate the problem for both the navy department and the contractor who is awarded the contract for a battleship.

* * *

Making It Attractive.

WHILE the law limits profits to 10 per cent, no provision is made to protect the contractor against an excessive loss. Taking into consideration the fact that the shipbuilders are entering a field that has lain dormant for approximately 20 years, that their plants are not completely equipped for building battleships, that labor and material costs cannot be accurately predicted over the four-year building period, their reluctance to become a party to such a large contract can well be appreciated.

To offset some of the risk involved, the department has provided for increase in the contract price when and if the costs of labor and materials rise to such an extent as to be reflected in the department of labor indices during the building period. Steps have also been taken to reduce all possible changes during the building period.

The navy at the present time may be regarded as the greatest shipbuilding concern in the world. It is the desire of the navy department to distribute this work between the navy yards and private shipbuilding industry on an equitable basis. Private industry will play a major role in the winning of any war and must be kept alive and healthy.

The problem is to make government business attractive enough for private industry to compete without the feeling that there is no compensation for the risks involved and the additional administrative details required, and at the same time fully protect the government's interest. It is a very real and complicated problem but not incapable of solution.

The navy hope to buy three battleships on Oct. 5.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

To "Trump"—It Means to Win.

In the long run, it is usage, that, confounding the etymologists, makes for legitimacy of language.

Corruptions, pooh-poohing the purists, seem to obey a Gresham's law of their own, the bad word slowly muscling in on the good, till having been around for a long time, it suddenly dons long pants and finds itself admitted to the company of its elders that is the lexicon.

So, the well known card term "to trump" is an abbreviated form of the verb "to triumph," with intrinsically the same sense, the latter stemming from the Latin triumphare to exult.

Latin America Gains Tourist Trade

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — 'Tis an ill wind, as the old saying is, that blows nobody any good.

Comparatively few Americans have been spending vacations in Europe this summer, very much to the disadvantage of such European business as depends largely for prosperity upon Yankee tourist trade.

Latin America, however, has been catching visitors from our side of the equator as never before.

Passport records at the state department prove this conclusively.

For July alone the number of these European traveling permits was more than 30,000 fewer than for the corresponding month a year ago. Latin American countries showed nothing like an offsetting gain; it will take time to educate our tourists to rush in a southerly direction. Still, our Latin republics have done better this year than ever before. The trend toward this hemisphere promises to increase, too, at Europe's expense—at least if Europe continues on the verge of such a turmoil as threatens now.

* * *

IN WAR DAYS

What befell American visitors in Europe when the World war broke out has not yet been forgotten. Travelers' checks were no good. Tourists were stranded, no matter what their essential resources were; they were dependent upon all sorts of expedients to get them home. Naturally no one wants to risk being caught in a similar jam today.

Besides, Europe is unpleasant under existing conditions.

Of course no tourist (only a reckless adventurer) goes to Spain. Russia is taboo except by an occasional passing aviator. There is plenty of prejudice against Nazi Germany and not much less of it against Fascist Italy. Vienna, once a highly popular resort, is steered clear of as a danger spot.

* * *

A BIG INDUSTRY

Tourist entertainment once was a big industry in Germany and Italy. Its destruction is as if steel or automobiles were to go to smash here. Nor is it alone that an industry is destroyed; these tourist-inviting nations are desperately dependent upon overseas visitors to support their foreign exchange. Otherwise their money is no good abroad.

England and France are not so sorely stricken.

Some few callers do occasionally drop in on London and Paris—but Berlin and Rome?—Oh, no! And London and Paris haven't 50 per cent of their normal quotas.

* * *

INDUCEMENTS

Latin America is beginning to horn in on this tourist trade.

It didn't use to stand a chance. At last it is starting to realize that an opportunity presents itself. And, most creditably, it is grabbing at it. It offers inducements.

It has some to offer. When it is hot weather up here is the southern continent's winter—not severe but cool enough to be comfortable. When it's freezing here it's balmy below the equator. Not so terribly calorific, either; President Roosevelt himself has just enjoyed a summer vacation right on the line.

The tropics have been advertised as "a green hell."

Hooey! It's a nice place. It offers wonderful chances for development. And it supplements our line of production admirably. EVERYTHING — except kangaroos, and I'll bet we could develop kangaroos also.

* * *

WITHOUT EUROPE!

We Pan-Americans could do without Europe altogether—and without Asia and Africa and Australasia.

I don't recommend it, but we COULD.

I'd like to see us get together—from Canada, including polar bears, to icebergs, off Cape Horn, with rubber and coffee and snakes and tropical timber intervening; bananas, et cetera, too.

As to historic associations, we haven't all that the Old World has—but we've got the GOODS.

Twenty Mansfield men went to Bucyrus to inspect new homes being constructed by D. C. Dunn, of Lima.

A number of motoring parties spent the night here, en route to the state fair from the northern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Endly and little son Herbert left on motoring trip into Indiana.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Aug. 30, 1933.

Westbrook women had costume golf party at club, with prizes for costumes going to Miss Lucille Upson, Mrs. William Springer and Mrs. Arthur Nevius.

E. E. Wigton of Mansfield was elected conductor of Ohio council of Jr. O. U. A. M. at state convention in Tiffin.

Adjt. and Mrs. C. A. Ditmer of the Salvation Army left for Schenectady, N. Y., where Adjt. Ditmer had been assigned. He was succeeded here by Adjutant David Brown.

Miss Jean Beach, Shelby, and Harold Gutekunst, Mansfield, were married in parsonage of Park Avenue Baptist church.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John France, South Linden road.

TODAY IN HISTORY

An agreement providing for the Dawes Reparation plan was signed on August 30, 1924 at London by Germany and the other countries affected.

Health Advice

Preparing for School.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONCE MORE the breath of fall is in the air, the haze hangs on the hill, the breezes rustling through the trees make a dry sound which hints that the sap of spring is gone from the leaves.

And there are other signs—returning vacationists bringing the young home from lake and mountain and seashore; wardrobes being prepared for the classroom; teachers bracing themselves for another session; text-books making their appearance in the offing.

And so once more it becomes my duty—and I think it is the most important function of a column like this—to advise about the preparation of the child for the school year.

I often am asked to name the most important health rules. And my interlocutors are invariably surprised when, instead of outlining a course of prohibitions for diet and dress and recommendations for exercise and sleeping on porches, I say instead, "Immunization of the body against contagious diseases."

This is especially true of the very young. And to send a young child to school for the first time without immunization against diphtheria, is like sending him into a den of wild animals.

Contagious diseases flourish in crowds. That is, of course, nothing more than axiomatic. And contagious diseases are especially likely to attack the very young. Also axiomatic. But combine the two—the very young and the crowd and you get the first days of school!

All Develop Immunity.

As time goes on we all develop immunity to the common diseases—sometimes by acquiring the disease itself (nearly every adult is immune to measles because nearly every adult had it when young), or by what is known as "contact" immunity. This may be explained by pointing out that a large group of human diseases are spread by carriers. Diphtheria is an example. Some people carry around diphtheria germs in the mouth or nose. They may be attenuated in virulence, and people associating with these people get small doses of the germs which they can kill off and gradually develop an immunity by contact.

School contacts create a great many of the contact immunities in the children. In any fourth or fifth grade over half the pupils would be found immune to diphtheria, although they never had it. I am referring to the days before the widespread use of immunization by toxoid.

Nowadays we want to create immunity to diphtheria before the dangers of exposure have begun to operate. We do not want to wait for contact immunity to develop. How it should be done will be described in an article later in the week.

As Others See It

Merely a Suggestion.

We don't know what is wrong with the churches, if anything. But we have an idea it wouldn't hurt to build up the prayer meeting.—Toledo Blade.

A Farmer's Diary

Corn on the Cob.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE HAD corn-on-the-cob for dinner. Near noon I found a clean, split basket and headed for the garden...across the zinnia bed, tomato patch, old bean and onion rows, until I came to the planting of Golden Bantam. Here I set my basket down, and felt the short, thin ears, to determine if they were mature enough to eat.

I broke the ears from the short, slender stalks and husked out the yellow, eight-row spike. It looked like gold, packed evenly in tiny bricks. The silk at the top was dry, but the threads beneath the folded husk were moist and tender. The fresh sweet odor of the corn was intense, and pleasing. It smacked of lusty growth, not yet completed.

Just beyond the Bantam rows were larger stalks and ears of a white variety. I plucked six or more of these and pulled the heavy wrapper down. About a third of the grains were yellow. The others looked like white pearls, set very close together.

I figured two dozen of uncertain sizes were enough, and bore my treasure to the kitchen. Here I stripped the ears of silks, broke off protruding ends, and placed them in a kettle of boiling, salted water.

Soon the air was full of the aroma of boiling corn, and six of us sat about the board. Steam rose, in rainbow hues, above the heaped up platter in the center.

I spread the upper part of a tempting ear with homemade butter until it dropped beneath, and started eating, unhampered by social restrictions, or points of etiquette. Somehow it tastes better, just that way. ...and to have the borders of my mouth and chin moist with butter and dotted with parts of grains of corn, makes me feel just a little younger.

Listen, World!

We're All of a Piece.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THIS endless bitter brawl between Capital and Labor . . . this widening breach between the Haves and the Haven'ts . . . how did a once neighborly nation ever get itself into such a vicious mess? I suspect it's because we've forgotten the fact which the simplest dolt realized in great-grandpa's day—namely, that whatever our outward appearance or bank account, humanly speaking we're all of a piece—ONE FLESH.

Recently a Young American—Lawrence J. Weber, 810 East Hancock street, Appleton, Wis.,—while discussing the situation, wrote this really great line, "THE IMPORTANT FACT TO BE REMEMBERED IS THAT EVERY INDIVIDUAL IS BOTH CAPITAL AND LABOR."

Strange—isn't it?—that America should need to be reminded of that line. Such a short time since our ragged forefathers were all fighting together in one trench—starving, bleeding, sweating, praying, in a common fury for a common cause. Yet today we go around spying and suspecting, giving each other the dog-eye, as though democracy had never been invented!

And the worst of it is, a lot of people—hundreds of thousands of people—really mean it. It isn't just an act with them, something they acquired with their lorgnettes and imported tweeds. The poor, deluded Dodos honestly believe they're "different" . . . actually think that the "clawsses" have superior reactions which the "mawsses" cannot possibly experience, due to their inferior insides.

"But we're different!" . . . quite a number of people have cherished that unhealthy notion. Remember the magnificent retort William Shakespeare once wrote on that subject and placed in the mouth of Jewish Shylock in the "Merchant of Venice"?

How about remodeling that retort . . . fitting it to modern America and the bitter need of some plain Bill Jones? Sounds like a good idea. Listen!

"I am a Worker! Hath not a Worker eyes? hath not a Worker hands, organs, dimensions, senses, affections, passions? fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapons, subject to the same diseases, healed by the same means, warmed and cooled by the same winter and summer as an Upper Bracket is? If you pick us, do we not bleed? if you tickle us, do we not laugh? if you poison us, do we not die?"

"But we're different!" No, you're not. None of us is different. Love and pride . . . fury and fear . . . the hunger for beauty . . . the yearning for freedom . . . these are not the heritage of the select few. They throb and pulse through all man's flesh alike. The coat may be ragged . . . the eyes dull . . . the tongue inarticulate.

BUT THAT SPARK WHICH LONG AGO TURNED COMMON CLAY TO MAN . . . STILL BURNS WITHIN THE DROSS . . . STILL STRUGGLES TOWARD THE STARS!

Timely Editorial

Cruelty To Prisoners.

No more horrid story has figured in the news recently than that of the four Philadelphia convicts who, trapped like rats in their narrow disciplinary cells, apparently were beaten and scalded to death.

In certain quarters there is a disposition to scorn as "coddling" any humanitarian impulse toward the law-breakers confined in penal institutions. And it is true that in some persons the plight of these malcreants does evoke an excess of humanitarianism, inimical to good prison management.

Yet every once in a while something like this will happen to make us realize that the humanitarian viewpoint can not safely be neglected. There unhappily is a class of men, sometimes found in authority in our prisons, whose inherent brutality can be held in check only by the pressure of a humane public opinion. Too much scorning of "coddling" can encourage these men in attitudes and actions that revolt the conscience of humanity.

The history of prison reform is a long and distressing one but apparently, in Philadelphia, is not yet long enough.—Detroit News.

Letter From An Old Friend.

How long it was since I had heard
  A word from you, and so
Today when to my hand your note
  Came, heart's high pulsing glow.

Gave me a depth of happiness
  I had not known for years.
I read it and re-read it as
  You will words joy endears.

And I will answer to recall
  The days of long ago.
And hope that we do not again
  Unheeding letters go.

Man About Manhattan

Looks Over New Orleans

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW ORLEANS—This is a personal billet doux to Helen Hayes: Dear Helen, sometime ago you returned from a tour of the country and told reporters in New York that the most delightful food you ate during your coast to coast tour was at Antoine's, in New Orleans.

I know just what you mean, Helen. I feel that way too. I thought of you last night when I was there. I told the waiter what you had said, and he pointed out where you sat. See how they remember you? I sat in your chair, Helen, in that same little room with the sawdust floor, off from the main room.

And I had pompono, too, just as you did, sealed in a heart-shaped paper bag. Whoever thought of cooking fish, all heaped with herbs and sauces, sealed in a paper bag? That's Creole cooking, Helen. That recipe wasn't brought over from France. It was arrived at, through necessity, right here in New Orleans. The slaves had their part in the origin of Creole cooking, and the Indians. Are you a good cook, Helen?

* * *

I THOUGHT of you as I sat there dining, and when they turned the lights out for the cafe brulot. There was brandy and cinnamon and clove and orange peel and lemon peel all in one magnificent flame that threw shadows on your face. And didn't it taste good! Didn't it though? It sure did taste good. I have a brulot bowl now. It's already on the way to New York. I hope it turns out the way I want it to. Yet somehow I've got a hunch it won't be the same as it is here. Maybe there's more than a bowl to it, and a bit of lemon peel.

I wonder if you remember that door at the end of the room, Helen? Let me tell you about that door. I hope I'm not telling tales out of school, but that door has been opened only once in 65 years. And it happened like this. It was opened by the man who took me to dinner there, by Seymour Weiss.

That was when President Roosevelt came to New Orleans not very long ago. There was a small, intimate dinner in his honor. If I remember there were only five people besides the president and his party. They were the governor, the mayor, the publishers of the newspapers in New Orleans, and Seymour Weiss.

* * *

THEY planned the dinner for this same little room where you were, Helen, with the sawdust floor and that closed door at the end. And to get to that room, as you remember, you have to come in from St. Louis street, cross that great open dining room, and turn left through a hallway before you get there.

Colonel Weiss thought of all this before the president got there. He thought it would be nice if the president wouldn't have to take this long walk through the restaurant proper. So he walked back into the kitchen and asked for a hammer and came back and opened that door which had been nailed shut for 65 years. And when the president arrived he only had to walk three steps across the threshold.

I think that's a swell story, Helen. I don't think I'll ever forget it, or Antoine's, and I don't think the president will either. It's another of those pretty little episodes that you always seem to bump into in New Orleans, and I thought you'd like to know.

CHAPTER 29

NOEL STARED at Nick, the color rushing to her face, when he announced he was going to marry her. Nick poured himself a glass of champagne and sat looking at her through the bowl of his glass.

Finally Noel said, "That's absurd, Nick. I do not love you. I am not interested in marriage."

Nick sat twirling his glass now. 'I'm not a bad fellow, really," he began in his tight voice. "You'd have found that out if you'd made any effort."

"But I'm not interested," Noel repeated.

"Wait a minute" Nick moved over to a wall safe, twirled the dial until it opened and came back with several velvet jewel boxes.

"Look, these are for you! You've probably never realized that Nick Luigi's a rich man" He opened two boxes, displaying a diamond and emerald bracelet and a string of perfectly matched pearls that would have made a duchess envious. Then he opened a third box containing a large, very handsome diamond ring. "A Marquis," he said proudly. "Fifty thousand dollars—not a cent less"

Noel looked coldly at the jewels. They were magnificent, of course But she was feeling like the heroine of some of the old-time melodramas in the nineties One of those funny old songs was running idiotically through her head.

"Take back your gold
For gold can ne-ver buy—me—"

The situation seemed both absurd and laughable. But Nick was in deadly earnest. "Look at this apartment," he said. "It's all yours."

* * *

The big room was lovely, Noel had to admit. It had a cool cathedral air, with its high vaulted ceiling, and its oval stained-glass windows. Even the luxurious furnishings did not take away this effect. But to find Nick Luigi in such an apartment was the last thing in the world she would have expected.

"Your apartment is lovely, Nick," she said evenly. "And now I must go." She rose.

But Nick ignored that too "Everything I have is always of the best," he said. "That's why I want you."

"Good night, Nick," Noel moved to the door

"You're not going?" Nick exclaimed in a voice of surprise, as if he could not possibly believe his guest would want to leave so early.

"I certainly am going," Noel retorted. "And listen, Nick, if you have any idea that you can keep me here, you'd just better get it out of your mind at once"

"You do slap very hard—I seem to remember," Nick came back with an unusual attempt at humor. Then he added, "The door is open Nobody is keeping you"

Noel found that was true. She opened the door, started out.

Then Nick said "So you're not interested in what I have to say about the young doctor?"

Noel hesitated Then she turned and faced him "If you have anything to tell me about him, which I don't believe, you'd better go on and say it."

She didn't look closely at Nick. So she did not see the dark scowl that came to his face. But she could judge something about his mood from the grim, suddenly furious tone of his voice. "Just this: You're never going to marry him. Never—if I have to—." But he did not finish.

Noel stood there, a sudden weakness rushing over her. Nick's words had a familiar sound. This was the second time someone had told her that she would never marry Julian Paige.

* * *

Then Noel straightened and looked at Nick levelly. "Listen to this, Doctor Paige isn't any more interested in me than I—I am in you And that is just exactly—NOT AT ALL." She stopped, drew a long breath, went on. "He has never asked me to marry him. And he hasn't the slightest intention of doing it."

"You lie almost as beautifully as you dance," Nick said grimly.

"It's the truth!" With that Noel opened the door and walked to the elevator. She wasn't sure she knew how to operate it. Probably she'd better walk down.

But Nick was standing beside her "I'll take you down."

Neither of them said a word as the elevator whirred downward. Then Noel heard it give a little whine as Nick once again started it upward after letting her out with a brief "good night."

It was dark and rather eery down in the long dance hall. There was only one dim light burning at the entrance to guide her to the door—a long way from where she stood Noel was feeling shaken Nick's threat had frightened her, and the shadows in the long room seemed to rise up and reach out long talon fingers to grab her.

When she at last reached the door, a figure rose up in the semi-darkness Noel almost screamed because her nerves were so on edge.

But it was Maida. "I didn't mean to scare you, honey," she apologized timidly. "I just knew you'd gone up with Nick, and I—I just thought you might like for me to wait"

Noel gripped her arm in relief. "Maida, it was one of the sweetest things anybody ever did for me. I needed somebody—rather terribly."

'That's what I thought," Maida put her arm around her, and they walked on together. "You had a bad time up there with Nick, I guess. He's a beast. But you can handle him, honey, so don't be afraid."

* * *

It had been a sort of nightmare in Nick's cathedral-like apartment. But it was over now. It was all over now She was free of Nick—facing a new life in which he could never enter.

It was easy to regain her feeling of confidence once out in the fresh air with the coolness on her flushed face and the friendly clasp of Maida's thin little arm.

"This is my last night at Luigi's" she told her. "Thank heaven, I'll never have to go back"

"I'm glad too, honey," Maida said, "although I'll sure miss you I've always been afraid Nick might cause you some trouble. You see, you're the kind of girl that men fall for, and fall for hard."

Noel almost could have laughed at that. There was one man, she could have told Maida, who didn't fall for her, who had said that he never intended to. And he happened to be the only one who counted.

* * *

She wondered, a sick pain coming up to her throat, what Julian was doing now, and where he was—and most of all, who was with him.

The light was on in the dingy room when Noel reached home, and Laurie was sitting up, her face rather anxious. "You were so late," she began, "I was beginning to be uneasy. Did Luigi make any trouble?"

"A little," Noel said, trying hard to make her voice sound unconcerned. She didn't want Laurie to worry, so she didn't tell her the threat, or the insinuation of a threat that had been in Nick Luigi's voice when he had spoken of Julian. But Noel thought Julian should know. He ought to be put on his guard.

The worried expression still lingered on Laurie's face, so Noel said reassuringly, "Listen, darling, I can always take care of myself."

"Even against Nick?" Laurie asked a little fearfully.

When they were in bed, after Noel had given her hair a hundred strokes, she asked Laurie the question she wished she could keep from asking, but could not. "Did you see Julian today?"

Laurie didn't answer. She was either reluctant to answer, or else she hadn't heard

Noel raised up on one elbow. 'Tell me, don't be afraid. I'm not going to jump into the river or anything like that. Did you see him and was he with Ruth Chester?"

"They lunched together and afterwards walked down the street," Laurie said hesitantly.

"I hate her," Noel cried suddenly. "I didn't know there'd ever be anybody in the world I'd hate as much as I do her."

"OH, JOHN, IT'S OURS!

"—and just think—we may never have to move again—and nobody can raise our rent!"

Did YOU know that in today's home you get 25% to 40% MORE REAL VALUE for your money than in 1926?

HAVE you been yearning to own your own home? Are you tired of the uncertainty of renting? Of accumulating nothing but rent receipts? Of never knowing from one year to the next just where you will be living, who your friends will be, where your children will go to school? Have you been seriously wondering whether NOW is the right time to build or buy?

If you've been hesitating, the chances are you don't know that the biggest bargain anybody's money can buy today is a new home.

New materials are partly responsible—lower cost, more economically applied materials that simply did not exist in 1926. But the increased values in the modern home are broader than that, as evidenced by the fact that . . .

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, with new and improved labor-saving devices, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping, and better room arrangement that eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, healthier atmospheric conditions; all help minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low-cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20-25 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

• • •

Any one of the companies listed at the right, any architect, builder, realtor, lumber or building materials dealer, will be glad to furnish complete information and literature on America's No. 1 value—a new home.

These 16 "EXTRAS" for Better Living

⑯ FIRE-RESISTANT—PERMANENT ROOF AND SIDEWALLS will never wear out

THE OLD WAY TO FINANCE

Here's what used to happen under the old method of financing: Let's say you borrowed $5,000. Of course, you probably had to renew the loan every 2 or 3 years, pay high financing charges and be greatly inconvenienced all the way around. But let's forget those things. The important point is that you didn't reduce the principal at all, but let the debt run. In 25 years you paid about $6,875.00 in interest, and after all that cash outlay (over a period of a quarter century), you still owed the $5,000. In short, it cost you $11,875.

THE NEW WAY TO FINANCE

Here's what happens today under the new and modern methods of financing. Let's say you borrow $5,000. You reduce the principal $50 every three months. In 25 years you pay only $3,472.25 in interest at 5% (maybe even less). And in 25 years your debt is free and clear, and you owe nothing. It has cost you $8,472.25, or an actual saving over the old method of $3,402.75.

HOME BUILDING COSTS DECLINE, SURVEY SHOWS

Price of Materials Eight and One Half Per Cent Below '26, Builders Say.

One reason today's house offers more home for the money than ever before is that the price of building materials is 8½ per cent below those of 1926, according to government commodity figures.

This point was brought out today by local building groups in their campaign to get the facts on home building costs before the citizens of Mansfield. The year 1926 is selected for comparison in dealing with prices and costs since the government uses it as a base period, and as being the level which may be considered "normal."

In the typical aggregate of homes built, lumber and millwork account for 34 per cent of the total building materials used, analysis shows. In the month of March, 1938, prices in the lumber group were 9 per cent less than in 1926. Next in importance in the list of materials used in a home is plumbing and heating fixtures, representing 18 per cent of the building materials bill, and prices in this group were 21 per cent less than in 1926.

9 Per Cent Drop.

Brick is also a major factor in house costs, and study shows that brick prices were more than 9 per cent less this spring than they were 12 years ago. Other items less in cost than in 1926 were cements, sand, tile, glass, composition roofing, and paint. The items in marked contrast with 1926 were white glazed wall tile, which was 52 per cent less; sinks, which were 44 per cent less; window glass, which was 30 per cent less; asphalt shingles, which were 32 per cent less, and insulating board which was 24 per cent less.

These substantial savings on building materials are in addition to the fact that infinitely more value is given in a modern house than in the one built 12 years ago. Revolution in design has allowed the utilization of every available inch of space for living, whereas formerly a goodly area went to waste. The new design is intended to save time and labor; modern kitchens are compact and complete; plumbing is superior and automatic heating has eliminated labor and dirt.

Aside from the actual construction advantages of the home and the cost of the materials which go into it, the survey points out that new methods of finance, with single, long-term mortgages with amortization features, have considerably reduced the cost of home ownership and lightened the financial load on the homeowner.

Garages Become Important Part Of Home Design

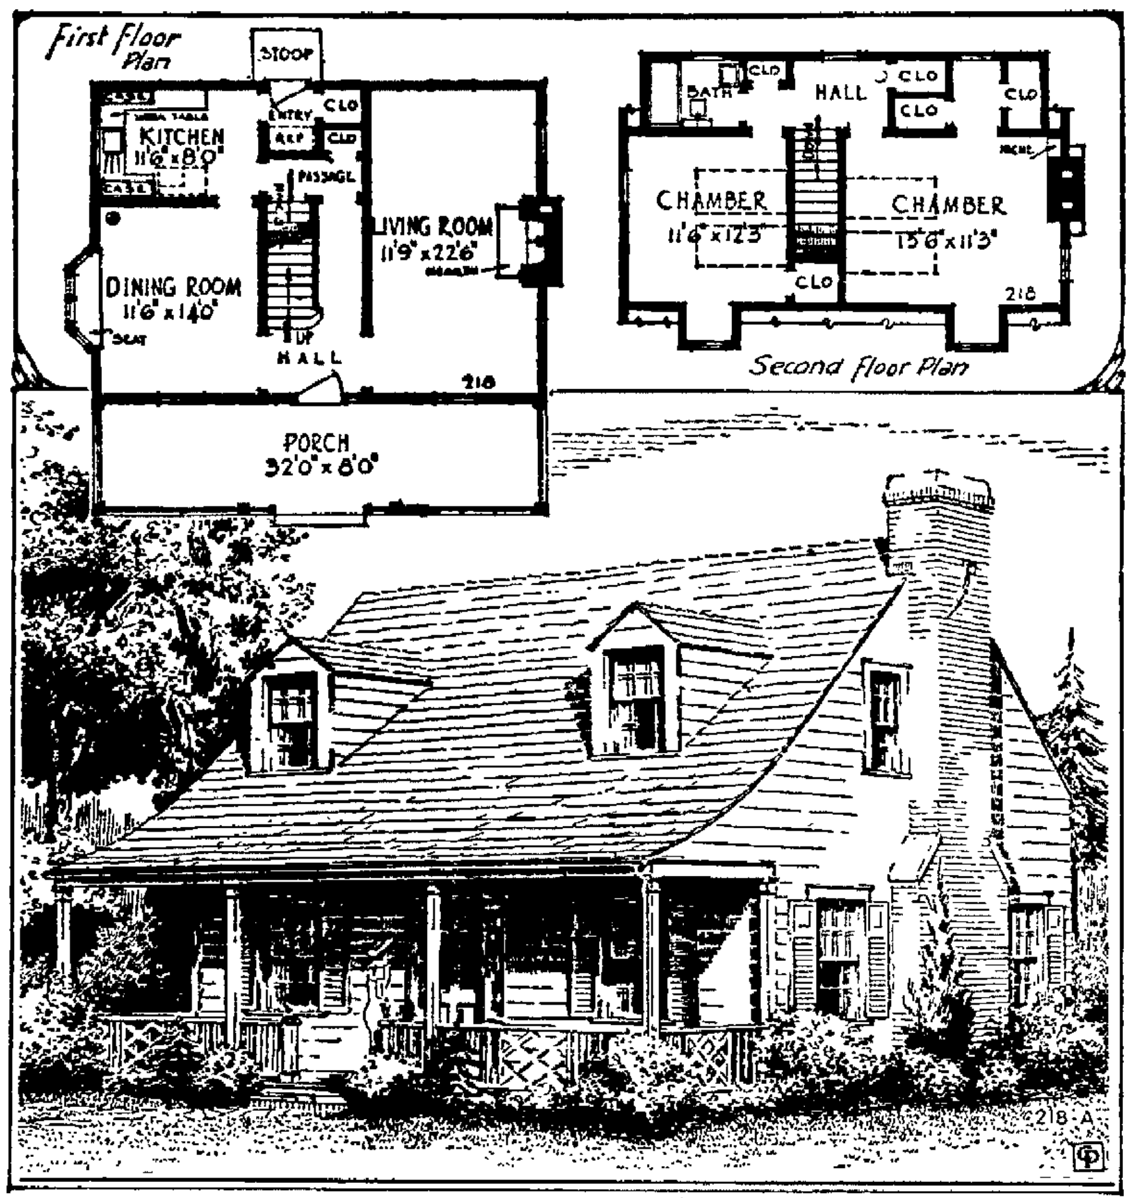
A garage has become so essential to a majority of home owners that it has become an integral part of the design and plan of the house instead of a service building to be concealed, even at the sacrifice of convenience, at the rear of the building site.

This fact is attested by figures published by the Federal Housing administration, which show that approximately 80 per cent of the new single-family houses insured during the year 1937 had either built-in or attached garages as part of the design.

By coordinating the garage with the house, it can be made to counter-balance another wing of the structure and thus make its own contribution to the symmetry of the dwelling design.

Where no facilities of this kind have been provided, funds to build a garage in connection with an existing dwelling can be obtained by means of a Property Improvement Credit Plan loan. These are made by private lending institutions and insured by the FHA.

Large Porch on This Colonial House



Design 218-A, Courtesy National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

Colonial type house containing five rooms, dormer windows in bedrooms.

(By Central Press)

If one likes a large, commodious porch across one's house, and, moreover adores quaint dormer windows in bedrooms, the house of colonial ancestry is your choice.

Such a house is pictured. It is small, containing five rooms, and is a frame house. The rooms are large, however, and the house planned for comfortable living in the modern manner.

The porch extends straight across the front of the house, and from it the visitor is ushered into a hall which contains the stairs.

The house contains 19,600 cubic feet of space; the porch, 1,600, making in all, 21,200 cubic feet.

Size of the main building is 32 feet by 23 feet 6 inches; size over all, 34 feet 9 inches by 36 feet 9 inches.

COLORFUL DINING ROOM

A dining room that is well lighted without being sunny is made charmingly colorful by the use of gray, yellow and deep red. For the floor, a dark gray rug; for the furniture, soft gray trimmed with the same pale yellow tint that is used for the ceiling. The walls and woodwork are painted soft gray. Window hangings of a rich, deep crimson frame the windows where there are soft yellow Venetian blinds.

ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY VITAL TO GOOD SMALL DWELLING DESIGN

A successful design for a small, low-priced dwelling should call for plan efficiency, economic use of materials, and proper equipment, according to the Federal Housing administration.

While these principles are obviously desirable in large homes, they are vital to small-home design if the house is to be constructed at the lowest possible cost. Every foot of space, odd corner, every length of pipe, foot of lumber, piece of brick that can be eliminated must be saved. At the same time efficiency and economy must not be obtained at the expense of substantial construction or by sacrificing the minimum standards of convenience and comfort.

Savings can usually be effected by making use of available standard materials such as unit sizes of masonry, stock millwork, standard lengths of lumber, and stock glass dimensions.

The Federal Housing administration now insures mortgages up to 90 per cent of the appraised value of the property under certain conditions. It does not, however, supply funds for these loans or plans and specifications.

It is suggested that wherever possible the prospective home builder consult a reliable architect and builder before submitting application for an insured loan.

RESTFUL STUDY

MODERN ROOM

Powder blue and canary yellow form the color keynote of a modern living room, with touches of brown for balance. In this room the walls and woodwork are painted pale powder blue, the draperies and one leather chair are canary and the rug, a rich brown. For the upholstered chair, a figured material of modern design, combining brown and blue, is used.

PAINT ON SILK

When painting with oil colors on silk or satin, care must be taken to prevent the oil from spreading through the fabric. For this reason a sizing is used. The first precaution is to have the colors as free from oil as possible. If the paint is squeezed from the tube onto blotting paper before using, a good deal of the oil will be absorbed. Next, trace on outline of the design on the material with a gelatine size. This size is made by dissolving four parts gelatine in ten parts of water then adding pure glycerine in the proportion of 15 drops to each quarter pint of the gelatine solution. Do not begin painting until the size is perfectly dry to the touch.

12,000 Return To Schools In County During Next Week

In a few days, the back-to-school movement will be on in Mansfield and Richland county, with more than 12,000 boys and girls scheduled to return to their studies in the city and rural districts.

Buildings and grounds are being made ready to receive the army of pupils, hundreds of whom will be going to school for the first time.

Although extensive building programs are proposed for Mansfield and the Union rural district, north of the city, only Bellville will offer a new building addition for pupils when classes begin the week of Sept. 5.

Butler village and the Lucas districts have received approval of new building plans, but indications are that the proposed building additions will not be ready for occupancy before next year.

7 More Rural Schools Closed.

The rural school consolidation program will take another step forward this fall, with seven more "little red schoolhouses" due to be vacated. Most of them are in the Bellville district where a new addition is being completed to provide space for the rural pupils. A number of the one-room schools are still being operated, however, in widely scattered sections of the county where adequate space has not yet been provided for pupils at centralized schools.

The new enrollment, which will include approximately 6,400 pupils in Mansfield schools, nearly 5,000 in the county's rural areas, and more than 900 in St. Peter's parochial schools, is expected to show a slight increase over last year, school officials said.

The business depression in recent months has brought a marked trend to the country, and the shift is expected to push the rural enrollment upward. Little change is expected in the city, where the normal population growth probably will equalize any loss due to the removal of pupils to the country.

First to open its doors for the new term will be the Lexington school which will receive registrations of prospective pupils Thursday. The following day the Union rural schools in Franklin and Weller townships will open.

Most of the other rural schools are due to open Tuesday, Sept. 6, and Mansfield schools will launch the 1938-39 term on Wednesday, Sept. 7. St. Peter's parochial schools open Sept. 6.

Mansfield schools will be headed again by Supt. W. L. Miller, while Boyd Robinson will continue as superintendent of county schools.

Latest In Fall Clothing on Hand At Matthes

Early buying has enabled the Matthes Clothing store, 14 South Main street, to display a complete stock of fall apparel for young men off to school.

"Men's suits, especially those for the younger man, are of styles and patterns that really are snappy and as lively as the college boy is expected to be," L. H. Hamman of the Matthes store, said.

New fall merchandise is arriving daily, A. W. Matthes, proprietor, said.

WIFE HEROINE IN FIRE

CALDWELL, Ida. —(U.P.)— Edgard Garber, 45, farmer, is alive today probably only through the courage and heroism of his wife. With his clothing afire from a gasoline blaze, he was trying to extinguish the flames by rolling on the ground, until his wife succeeded by covering him fully with her own body.

Ritter's Offer Wide Variety of School Supplies

The Charles Ritter company, 67 North Main street, recognized as headquarters for school supplies, is again ready for the opening of schools next week with a complete selection of supplies every student needs for school work.

The selection includes supplies for boys and girls attending kindergarten, elementary, junior and senior high schools and college.

No matter what the school needs may be, from a tiny tot's school bag to a new portable typewriter, Ritter's will be able to supply it from their complete stock.

Harvey Presents Full Line of Children's Shoes

Harvey's offer the latest in styles in fall shoes, as well as shoes that give the children a perfect fit.

Harvey's also has a complete line of men's and women's shoes.

Liberty Store Specializes In Children's Shoes

Specializing in long wearing shoes for children of all ages, the Liberty Shoe Store, 57 North Main street, is ready to help mother solve her "back to school" problems so far as shoes are concerned

Aware of the hard use that most husky boys and girls give their shoes, the Liberty store is stocked with such leading brands as Red Goose and Child Life shoes, built to stand wear and to protect healthy, normal feet.

A complete downstairs department for children at the Liberty store is ready to serve the preschool needs of boys and girls, the store management announced today.

Seven Operators Serve Patrons of Moderne Salon

The latest in nationally known permanents for fall is being offered by the Moderne Beauty Salon, 5 Park avenue west, for young women who will return to high school and college for the 1938-39 school year.

A staff of seven trained operators is maintained at the salon for permanent wave work. Such hairdresses as Zotos, Jamel and Frederics are being featured during the "return to school season."

A special department for pedicure work is a feature of the shop. Patrons also may consult the operators for any kind of facial and scalp treatment suited for their individual needs.

Ready to Go Back to School

When the average college girl goes back to school, she presents a picture of smartness and style. Summer clothes are practically "out" in the back-to-school movement. Although there are always "fussy" clothes for special occasions, most of the school girl's wardrobe is made up of tailored street and sports clothes. The short jacket, shown above, is a favorite item because it can be worn with so many different ensembles.

Siegenthaler's Have Latest In Children's Shoes

Siegenthaler's children shoe department which for many years has supplied shoes at the beginning of the school year, has been restocked with many new styles for the opening of the new school term next week.

Siegenthaler's point out that mothers have learned to look for quality and fine construction in children's shoes as they combine to provide many months' of additional wear.

A correct shoe properly fit for children of all ages can be found at this store. The children's shoe department at the store is not merely a sideline but a complete and important part of the store.

Morgan's Show 7 Processes of A-1 Dry Cleaning Job

Mother knows what a task it is to get Mary's or Johnny's clothing ready for school, and she knows what a help it is to have the children's garments well cleaned and ready for use.

In today's News-Journal, Morgan Cleaners and Furriers, 339 East Fourth street, present a picture story of the seven processes needed to produce dry cleaning at its best.

In a plant equipped with every modern device for cleaning clothing and household articles, Morgans offer the utmost in safety, quality and satisfaction.

Realizing that the best of apparatus is not the only essential for careful, thorough dry cleaning jobs, Morgan's employ a staff of skilled workers.

Hogan Studio Organizes Fall Dancing Classes

The Marty Hogan studio of dancing at 15 South Walnut street, was established in Mansfield in 1923 and since then has developed into an outstanding school of dancing.

Miss June Ford is associated with the Hogan studio as instructor in tap and musical comedy dancing for beginners as well as for adults. Miss Ford received training at the Eddie Powell studio in Columbus.

Acrobatic, ballet and character dancing are taught by Miss Helen Martin who has been with the Hogan studio for the past nine years.

Advanced classes are under the direction of Jack Gates, who has been connected with the Hogan studio for the past two years, and who operates the Beaumont studio in Columbus and various other studies throughout Ohio.

In addition to the tap department, Gates also instructs ballroom pupils.

Good Vision Essential For Good Grades

It has been shown repeatedly that good vision is essential if the pupil is to do the best work and get the best grades.

Dr. A. Tootikian, optometrist with Rogers and company, 25 North Main street, who has had many years experience at correcting faulty vision, today urged parents to have their children's eyes examined before the new school term opens.

He advised that children are often handicapped from the start if their vision is poor, and that a thorough examination of the eyes is the only means of making certain that defective vision is not responsible for headaches and lack of interest in studies.

Equipped to treat any case of defective vision, Dr. Tootikian uses highest quality lenses and mounts them in frames to fit individual needs.

Many Students to Return to School With Typewriters

Many college and high school students will start back to school this fall with a typewriter—something that is of special value in the preparation of classroom papers.

The J. F. Orr Typewriter company, exclusive representative for the Royal Typewriter here, claims that typists using Royals have increased their speed of from 10 to 16 words per minute over other models.

The Orr company also handles other outstanding lines of office equipment and supplies. Products of the Shaw-Walker company, manufactures of office furniture and filing equipment, are sold by the concern.

A collection of English magazines that date from 1834 and feature "wild west" stories or historical items concerning New Mexico, has been acquired by the New Mexican Historical society.

It's Season For Permanent Waves For Young Misses

Back to school season is also a season for the young college and high school miss to get herself a new permanent wave.

The Taylor Beauty Shop, 708 Richland Trust building, is owned and operated by Myna Lorentz and Mildred Guthrie.

Miss Lorentz is a graduate of the Cleveland Academy of Cosmetology and for several years was manager of the Taylor shop prior to assuming part ownership.

The shop maintains a staff of four experienced operators and features nationally known permanents. Miss Lorentz also specializes in hair cutting and hair styling.

Brenner Shows New Styles In Glasses

New styles in mountings for glasses are being shown by O. O. Brenner, 8 West Third street, who has been engaged in fitting glasses in Mansfield for more than 27 years.

The approach of the opening of school marks the time for a check up on eyesight.

Brenner's is featuring the Wilsedge, a new type rimless mounting that requires no screws or holes drilled in the lenses. This new type eliminates 90 per cent of possible breakage, it is claimed.

Demands Deportation of Bridges, CIO Leader In West

URGES LABOR DIVISION TO ACT SPEEDILY

Recalls Testimony Developed in Other Hearings, Those of Own Committee.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Chairman Martin Dies, D., Tex., of the house committee investigating un-American activities, demanded today that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins take immediate action to deport Harry Bridges, Pacific coast director of the committee for industrial organization.

He said department of labor files in the Bridges case disclosed that one witness testified he had heard Bridges say: "To hell with the president of the United States."

Warns Against Delay.

"Deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges should be commenced without any further delay," Dies wrote, "not only because the statute and decisions require such proceedings, but because delay may, if it has not already done so, place the witnesses beyond the reach of the government and make it impossible to make out a case."

During the labor department's hearings, Dies' letter revealed, witnesses testified that Bridges on one occasion said of the United States fleet when it was in San Francisco harber, "We will see a day when we can sink those damn things because they are the enemy of the workers."

In Dies' committee hearings recently Bridges was alleged to be connected with the communist party. He has denied the accusations.

Bridges has also been charged with being an alien.

Defends Committee.

Dies also promised today "to investigate and expose" the Nazi and Fascist movements in the United States "as thoroughly as we do the communist movement."

In a nationwide radio address last night, Dies defended his committee against charges of "union busting" and "red baiting" and denied that Shirley Temple had been pictured as a communist during recent hearing.

He also renewed his attack upon the labor and justice departments for their alleged failure to co-operate with the committee by assigning clerks and investigators to help gather evidence.

Bricker Attacks Deficit In School Foundation Fund

COLUMBUS — (AP) — John W. Bricker, Republican gubernatorial candidate, held forth the pledge today that, if elected, he would "not continue a so-called balancing of Ohio's budget at the expense of the public schools and teachers."

"I will put the school foundation program on a pay-as-you-go basis," he said in the second of a series of radio broadcasts last night. "For the good of the school program, for the sake of good government x x x Ohio needs a change."

Pointing to an existing $17,000,000 deficit in the program, Bricker declared:

Twelve million dollars of the deficit was incurred under the present Democratic administration. The remaining $5,000,000 was incurred under an earlier Democratic administration. It is time to let a Republican administration remedy the damage."

WINS FAMOUS FLYERS EVENT

Jack Swartz to Receive Tickets to National Air Races.

Jack R. Swartz, 49 Washington avenue, was judged the winner yesterday of the Famous Flyers contest conducted in The News-Journal in conjunction with the National Air races to be held in Cleveland beginning Saturday.

Swartz was selected from over 100 entries. He will receive two tickets to attend the races Saturday.

Honorable mention was given to Carl H. Heilman, 167 McPherson street; Robert Bushey, Shiloh; Alice Wise, Ashland, and Sellwyn Copeland, 60 Mendota street.

Welcome To—

Up and Down THE STREET

Sunday's rotogravure section of the New York Times carried a six-column picture of the famous Chateau Fontainbleau, with a group of young music students at the foot of the horseshoe stairway. Easily recognized are the faces of Louise and Jean Seybold, Mansfield girls who are studying piano and organ at the French conservatory this summer. Jean was given a scholarship to the conservatory at Fontainbleau because of her unusual ability as a pianist. The two Mansfield girls, who are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Seybold, 514 South Main street, were scheduled to fly from Paris to London this morning. They will spend several days there before sailing for home. They expect to land at New York Sept. 9.

Everytime Coach Russ Murphy calls for Bob or Dick to explain some intricate point when the football drills open at Mansfield high school Thursday, the Tyger leader will be taking a chance of half of the squad answering his call. About 25 of the more than 50 candidates expected to report for the first drill go by the names of Bob or Dick. After checking over the list, "Murph" decided that the only way to eliminate any confusion would be to call the players by their surnames.

* * *

It wouldn't be a perfect camping and fishing trip if there weren't some grief connected with it. And members of the Eagle Scout party that camped in the Canadian woods for two weeks got their grief when they were ready to start back Saturday morning. When they returned to their cars they found two flat tires and a third car that wouldn't start because of dirt in the carburetor. All told, they were delayed four hours getting the cars back in traveling condition. But the party had its fill of fish and Scout Executive Floyd Dent expressed the feeling of most of the boys when he said he didn't want to look another fish in the face for six months.

* * *

Seen out of the window: A family washing made up mostly of men's shirts hanging on a clothesline atop a building right in the heart of Mansfield's business district. Pedestrians couldn't see it but office workers on top floors of buildings in the vicinity of Fourth and Main street did.

BURIED TODAY

Rites for Young Wife, Killed in Crash, Held in Cleveland.

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeline Feinberg, 21, Mansfield, who was killed in a traffic crash near Medina early Monday, were to be held at 2 p. m. today at the Deutch funeral parlors in Cleveland. Burial will be in Cleveland.

Miss Evelyn White, 21, of Chicago, a sister of Mrs. Feinberg, and Barney Schwartz, 24, Mansfield, who were injured in the accident, were reported recovering today in Mt. Sinai hospital, Cleveland. Miss White suffered lacerations on her head and legs, and Schwartz suffered a fracture of his left leg.

Mrs. Feinberg, driver of the car in which the group was returning from a wedding in Cleveland, was pinned beneath the car when it turned over three times after it was sideswiped by an automobile driven by Harold Nosker of Medina. She suffered a broken neck. Her husband, Charles, who was riding with her, suffered minor injuries.

HIS LAST RESOURCE

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. —(AP)—A man strode into a used car lot, borrowed a hammer, smashed his dental plates and removed the gold. "Thanks," he said. "I'm a little hard pressed, and I'm taking the gold to hock it."

ACCEPTS BID OF $4,025 ON PUMP

City Board Lets Contract for Woodland Water Equipment to Mansfield Firm.

As a part of the $75,000 Woodland waterworks improvement program, the city board of control yesterday awarded a contract for the purchase of pressure pump to be used at the Woodland reservoir booster station.

The Purdy Construction company of Mansfield was the successful bidder, offering to supply a Weinman pump on a bid of $4,025. The pump is equipped with a power motor manufactured by the Ideal Electric Manufacturing company of Mansfield.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist pointed out that proposals were offered on six other pumps but that the control board favored the Weinman pump because its motor was of local manufacture.

Three bidders submitted proposals when the board opened bids at city hall yesterday.

The Downing and Hetrick company of Columbus submitted a bid of $4,375 to supply a Weinman pump, $300 higher than the Purdy company's successful bid. The only other bidder was the Dravo Corporation, Cleveland, which offered to supply a DeLavel pump at a cost of $4,060.

GAIN AGAINST INSURGENT LINE

Government's Reorganized Militia Attack On Extreme North.

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier)—(AP)—The government reported today that its troops in southwestern Spain slowly were pounding holes in the insurgents' Estremadura front.

Government dispatches said reorganized militiamen were attacking on the extreme north of the front in the Puente Del Arzobispo sector as well as in the vicinity of the Almaden mining country. Advances, however, appeared slight. Five insurgent seaplanes today raided the port of Alicante, on government Spain's Mediterranean coast, killing three workmen and destroying two warehousss.

HEAD MISSING

Body Believed That of Trotsky's Former Secretary.

PARIS—(UP)—A headless body, found in the Seine river near Neulan outside Paris, was identified tentatively today as that of Rudolf Klement, former secretary to Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian war lord.

Klement disappeared July 13. Trotsky, announcing at Mexico City July 18 that he was missing, expressed belief that he had been kidnaped or murdered. Erwi Wolf, another of Trotsky's former secretaries, was assassinated at Barcelona, in Loyalist Spain, several months ago.

DEPUTY, 25, NAMED SHERIFF AT ASHLAND, TO BE OHIO'S YOUNGEST

ASHLAND—Becoming Ashland county's youngest sheriff and possibly the youngest in Ohio, Dale Hammond, 25, today prepared to take over the sheriff's duties at Ashland succeeding H. F. Wallett who resigned yesterday because of ill health.

Hammond, a deputy under Sheriff Wallett for the past year and a half, was appointed by county commissioners yesterday soon after Wallett had submitted his resignation. Hammond will begin his new duties Sept. 30 when the sheriff's resignation is effective.

An Ashland county native and former gasoline station attendant and Ashland county Farm Bureau employe, Hammond said he hoped to "give Ashland county residents law enforcement and protection similar to the service given by Sheriff Wallett."

Hammond is married and has a son, five and a half months old.

Sheriff Wallett was regarded as the most popular sheriff in the history of Ashland county, being elected four consecutive terms. His present term has more than two years to run.

Wallett gave as the reason for his resignation, his failure to recover completely from an operation several months ago. He plans to spend the coming winter in Florida with his family.

His resignation was accepted by county commissioner and the appointment of Deputy Hammond as his successor took place on the same day.

Council Gets Resolution on B. & O. Crossing Tonight.

A resolution requesting the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company to repair its grade crossing on North Main street is to be acted upon tonight when city council meets in a special session called by Mayor C. M. Hunter.

The resolution as drown by City Solicitor Marion D. Ward requests that the crossing be improved with the construction of steel type cross-ways and approaches.

Legislation on the crossing improvement is one of several measures up for council consideration. Also due for discussion is final legislation authorizing the impromevent of Forest avenue from Marion avenue to Bartley avenue.

The measure calls for the issuance of street assessment bonds amounting to $11,000 to finance the property owners' share of the improvement costs.

Expects New Air Speed Mark to Fall Soon

PLANE DESIGNER CROSSES NATION IN TEN HOURS

Says Army Pursuit Ships Will Soon Be Able to Top Mark; Race Planes Tested.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—Alexander P. De Seversky is certain the air record of 10 hours, three minutes and seven seconds he set yesterday between New York and Los Angeles won't stand up long.

He says an army pursuit ship will be able to crack his record soon.

The little monoplane he ferried here for Jacqueline Cochran to fly in the Bendix dash can cruise 3,000 miles without refueling its wing-to-wing tanks and that, he observed, carries great military significance.

Lesson From War.

"We have learned, from the wars in Spain and China," Seversky said, "that bombardment craft are vulnerable to attack from the air unless properly convoyed. So the big 'flying fortress' that cruises at 250 miles an hour must be accompanied by pursuit ships that can go even faster."

Seversky bettered Roscoe Turner's long-held record by one hour, 26 minutes and 53 seconds.

His average speed for the 2,600 mile flight was 260 miles an hour.

Miss Cochran, noted aviatrix, felt pretty happy that the major flew from New York to Los Angeles in 10 hours and 3 minutes in the plane she will pilot in the Bendix air race from here to Cleveland next Saturday.

"I couldn't ask for a better omen than to have the plane set a new transcontinental record on its way to the race," she declared.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Arthur C. Chester, speed pilot, expressed satisfaction today with a trim plane entered in the Thompson trophy classic of the National Air races, although the ship has been off the ground but once.

Chester reported a speed of 230 miles an hour in a test flight here yesterday. His yellow plane is equipped with a controllable pitch propeller. The flight, he said, was made with the propeller in "low pitch." He explained that "low pitch" corresponds to the second gear of an automobile.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Jimmy Roosevelt Failed To Mention Cronin Case In His Insurance Story

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Jimmy Roosevelt has dropped the other shoe in the second and last installment of his story in Collier's without mentioning the Cronin insurance case in Boston. This is a very interesting case. In the Cronin suit it has been shown that the American Tobacco company placed a deposit of $2,000,000 in the National Shawmutt Bank of Boston and that in the course of time one of the insurance firms in which Jimmy was interested received a huge insurance order from the bank. The commission was about $40,000 a year.

The matter naturally calls attention to Jimmy's indignant denial that he would trade on the place which his father occupies. It also emphasizes his admission that he requested that George Washington Hill, the president of American Tobacco, be given special treatment on a visit to Jimmy father at Warm Springs, Ga., as a means of promoting his insurance business.

* * *

Jimmy did write a $2,500,000 policy on Mr. Hill's life, but he explains that this was closed five months before Mr. Hill's visit to Warm Springs. On November 29, 1932, he learned that Mr. Hill was to visit Franklin D. Roosevelt, and regarding Mr. Hill as "the possible source of more business (which we never got)," he sent a wire to Miss Marguerite Le Hand, the secretary to the president-elect.

"George W. Hill, president American Tobacco company and vice president Paul Hahn, as you know, arrive Warm Springs Thursday morning," the telegram said. "I am trying not to ask many favors, but will greatly appreciate it if you would take especially good care of both of them, because it is important in a business way to me."

* * *

Jimmy admits that he sent this message for the purpose revealed in the telegram, but seems to resent any suggestion that it was sent for the very purpose which is stated in the message itself. He bases his resentment on the fact that the big life policy already had been written and the fact that the further business which he had then in mind did not develop.

In August, 1933, however, nine months after the visit to Warm Springs on which Jimmy bespoke "especially good care" for the two officials of the American Tobacco company, that company deposited $2,000,000 in the Shawmutt bank.

And in the fall of 1934 the bank placed the big insurance order through O'Brion, Russell, with whom Jimmy Roosevelt himself states that his firm of Roosevelt & Sergeant is associated on a 50-50 basis. Jimmy is mentioned in the testimony and in the arguments before F. Delano Putnam, the auditor, or referee, of the superior court in Boston.

* * *

According to the record, one official of the bank admitted that his purpose was to throw the commission on the insurance to O'Brion, Russell, Jimmy's associates, and take it away from the plaintiff in the suit, Arthur D. Cronin. Another bank official, after long hedging to avoid a direct answer, finally answered the question:—"weren't you interested in having James Roosevelt get a commisison?" with the words:—"Yes, sure: I wanted him to get the business."

Mr. Cronin is suing on his claim that he did the spade work on a very difficult job and that the business was arbitrarily given to the associates of Jimmy Roosevelt. The decision, however, may have no direct bearing on Jimmy's situation because the defense relies mainly on a simple denial that Cronin had a contract with the bank. Cronin's counsel contended that the policy as finally placed was substantially the same proposition on which he had expended much time and energy.

* * *

Although Jimmy scornfully denies that he would trade upon the place which his father occupies, these facts remain:

1. HE DID bespeak "especially good care" for a visitor to the president-elect of the United States "because it is important to me in a business way."
2. THE VISITOR, DID deposit $2,000,000 in the bank.
3. AND THE BANK DID eliminate from the insurance deal a man who had worked up the proposition and gave the business to Jimmy's associates.

Cause and effect are not here apportioned. Jimmy has appealed to public opinion, but in presenting his case to that tribunal he neglected to mention the Cronin case.

Hollywood Speaks---

--By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Science has brought the mountain to the movie Mohamets.

Ten years ago, a film actor, sweating through his first talkie, had to sneak up to the microphone and deposit his voice. Today, the "mike" chases him all over the set and grabs his lines from almost any angle.

The "mike" itself has undergone changes in size and shape. The first cumbersome instruments, in which the slightest swish sounded like a landslide, have been replaced. Some of the new microphones are no larger than a telephone receiver. And they've learned to fly. "Boom boys" operate long "fish poles" with the microphone attached, literally fishing for sound in the air above camera range

Last In a Series.

The camera booths are gone. A single camera is used on the majority of sets. Its gradually decreasing "grind" was encased in "blimp" coverings, bulky at first but through the years receding into the compact trimness of a mere camera case. Now a practical "silent" camera has come along—entirely blimpless.

The sound mixer's booth is gone also. That dignitary now sits by the set at a console covered with meters, dials and lights.

* * *

In the early days "sound effects" were put into a scene on the set, using various mechanical devices to stimulate different sounds. Now these same effects are added in the sound "dubbing" department—from the "library" of thousands of sounds recorded in nature.

Today the sound man cannot make a terrible voice good, but he can improve it. He can put body into a slightly squeaky voice, for instance, through control of electrical circuits. He can eliminate many extraneous noises through re-recordings. He can fit one actor's words to another's lips. Most amazing of all, perhaps—he can lop an "s" from a spoken word or add one, so that in a pinch he can correct an actor's grammatical lapses!

The patrons howled, in 1928, when Conrad Nagel in "Glorious Betsy!" cried "BETT-Thee!" The recording, due to lack of frequency response or range, couldn't take the "s." Today, the sibilants record clearly—in fact, they whistle at the sound man occasionally.

Impossible at first was more than a travestied reproduction of the voices of opera singers and the music of symphonies. Today even the highest notes of a singer, the full volume of a great orchestra can be reproduced with startling fidelity.

* * *

Sound is constantly being improved and improvements developed in one studio are instantly available to the others.

In many of the world's 64,000 theaters wired for sound projection, the reproduction equipment has not kept pace with developments in recording.

Equipment that was modern two years ago, in the opinion of studio sound men, now needs replacement or a major operation. Projection apparatus that is the last word today may be outmoded in five years, possibly in three.

But on the whole the sound of today is as different from the sound of ten years ago as a bird's song from frog's croak.

EDWIN FENSCH MARRIES POPULAR ASHLAND GIRL

Mansfield Teacher and Musican Takes Miss Heloise Moore of Ashland as His Bride; Reception for 150 at Country Club.

ONE of the loveliest weddings in Ashland this season and one which was of particular interest to Mansfield people took place Saturday at the Emmanuel Evangelical church when Edwin A. Fensch of Mansfield took as his bride Miss Heloise Moore, popular member of Ashland's younger set. She is the daughter of Mrs. Charles L. Moore, 803 Center street.

The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock with the Rev. Perry E. Smoke officiating at the single ring service. The church was decorated with greens and white gladioli and the aisle roped off with streamers of white tulle, with white glads at the pews. The seven-branch candelabra with ivory tapers lighted the altar.

There were 350 guests at the church, of which 75 were from Mansfield. Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Harry Teeter Dotson, close friend of the bride, presented a program of organ music, and continued the music softly throughout the ceremony.

The bride's gown was an unusually lovely one of ivory satin made princess style with a tight bodice and a two-yard train. From a circlet of gardenia in her hair, a three-tiered veil of illusion all but covered her. The first tier extended beyond her train, the second fell over her face to the waist line and the third was hip length.

She carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias. Her bridal party was made up of a maid of honor, Miss Georgia Fulmer; two bridesmaids, Miss Betty Topping and Miss Betty Helbert, and little Elizabeth Ann Johnson as flower girl.

Attendants' gowns were of antique moire in shades of Roseberry and Romance rose. They were made with Marie Antoinette [illegible] into slight trains. Clips of multicolored stones adorned the necklines. Little poke bonnets of velvet and illusion were in matching colors. They carried fans of gardenias. The flower girl's little gown was in the same style and colors and she carried a miniature gardenia fan.

Walter Fensch, Mansfield, brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man, while ushers were Oscar Fensch, also a brother; Kenneth Paul, Galion; Jerry Hagadorn and Frank Sedlak, Mansfield.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of peach marquisette with dawn blue trim and hat. Her flowers were Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Charles Fensch, mother of the bridegroom, selected a rose beige lace dress and a large rose violet hat for her son's wedding, and her flowers were also Johanna Hill roses.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the Ashland Country club. Early in the evening the couple left for a two week's visit in Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will be at home in a newly furnished home in Ashland.

The bride attended Ashland college for two years and later graduated from the school of journalism, Northwestern university. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Fensch also attended Ashland college and took his masters degree at Ohio State university. He is a member of the Scribes club. For several years he was on the editorial staff of the Mansfield News and for several years has been on the teaching staff of John Simpson Junior high school. He is also prominent in Mansfield musical circles, playing with various orchestras. He was a member of the Mansfield Symphony orchestra.

College Bound Girls Find Chic In These

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer.

NEW YORK—So you're off to college? Then you will be hustling around trying to get the fall wardrobe in shape.

Necessities for any undergraduate are, a travel coat, a suit, and an informal and comfortable costume to study and play in.

The top coat that is shown above was American styled, and would seem to be the decided choice of college women. This garment is a Hollywood model. Made of brown wool flecked with red, green and beige, and is cut on very flaring skirt lines. The back yoke and bell sleeves are cut in one, and a deep action-back pleat runs from yoke to hem, while additional flare is given by pleats nipped in at the waist and held by the broad brown suede belt. The jaunty brown felt hat has an indented front brim, through which is thrust a red and green feather trim.

This three-piece suit (left) is made of wool. The skirt is of plain blue and is worn with a jacket and a short collarless coat of yellow and blue striped material. The bag is made of raspberry antelope and is stitched in bars. The little visor-brimmed hat is made of matching antelope with a flat bow in front. The shoes and gloves are also made of antelope and match the skirt in color.

There's really a nice north woods atmosphere about this mannish shirt. It's warm enough to be practical and is made in fine lightweight wool, so you won't feel all bundled up when you go back indoors. It is plaided with bright red, yellow and blue and has a deep tailored collar, flapped breast pocket, and long shirttails that will positively stay tucked in.

Westbrook Members Dance In "College" Atmosphere

WESTBROOK Country club took on a gala college atmosphere Saturday night when the College Night dance was staged there. It was attended by more than 50 couples who danced to the music of the Musical Magpies, Cleveland sepia orchestra, under the direction of Earl Hood.

The rooms were decorated with college pennants and typical college "art." The committee on arrangements, made up of John Hattery, jr., chairman; David Ott, Barbara Cosgrove, and John Burns, carried out the idea of a college prom in all of the decorations. Refreshments were served buffet style at 11:30.

Next Saturday night the annual Labor day dance will be held at the club, with Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Fernyak in charge.

New Washington Girl Weds Howard R. Rusk, Mansfield

AMONG the out-of-town marriages that interest Mansfield people was that Saturday noon at New Washington when Miss Evelyn Hildebrand of that place and Howard R. Rusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rusk, 418 Sherman place, were married at St. John's Lutheran church.

It was a private wedding and there were no attendants. Rev. John Doeschner officiated. The bride wore an afternoon frock of royal blue velvet with hat to match, and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Rusk, who took her degree at Columbia university, has been teaching at the Berea high school. The bridegroom, a graduate of Kenyon college, is associated with the Cleveland Cap Screw company in the sales department. They will make their home in Cleveland upon their return from a two weeks' trip to Quebec and the Adirondacks.

Regard Homemaking As Profession

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 22 years old and have been married over a year. Before my marriage I held a very good stenographic position, but gave it up because my husband did not want his wife to work.

I love my husband very much and he is good to me, but I get so restless. Housework is so monotonous and I feel so depressed and lonesome alone all day. There's no excitement in keeping house, and I'm used to being around people.

I did have several temporary positions since I've been married, and I felt so much better, but then I couldn't do the cooking and we ate out quite a bit. This my husband didn't like, as he said it made for a happier marriage if the wife stayed at home instead of going to office.

I suppose he's right, but I know so little about cooking and domestic work, and pine for my old job again. What can I do to get over this restless feeling?

DORIS.

It's perfectly natural for you to feel that way. Every girl who gives up a position and gets married feels the same, at first. She has been accustomed to "rules and regulations," and has had a certain time for each task.

In her own home, her time is her own. Nothing is really urgent; she is her own boss and can do as she pleases when she pleases. She's used to having a group of men and girls around, and there's always excitement—more or less—in an office.

I urge you to regard homemaking as a profession and not as a chore. You'll find it's just as interesting and exciting as office work. Take up cooking and learn how to do it well, how to prepare appetizing and well-balanced meals.

Your husband is right when he says it makes for a happier marriage if the wife stays at home. No woman can be a competent housewife and a competent business woman at the same time. Either job takes all she has.

My Neighbor Says:

If corn is left too long on the stalks it will become tough and tasteless, but if gathered when in the milk and eaten within a few hours it will have a delicious flaver. Snap beans must always be picked when young and summer squash before the shell gets hard. Brussels sprouts, kale and parsnips are better after they have been touched by frost, but kohlrabi, which makes rapid growth, should be gathered when about the size of a tennis ball. Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach are different from ther greens, as only the fresh, tender leaves are used, the plant being allowed to constantly renew itself.

LET HIM OVERRUFF

Most declarers hate to have a defender overruff with a trump which could have been captured. There are contracts, however, which cannot be made except through allowing the opponent to do that very thing. If it saves running several rounds of trumps which use up trumps needed for a number of ruffs, the one trick investment may pay big dividends.

This deal arose in a rubber game and the North-South team ended in a contract of 5-Clubs. South started with 1-Diamond, West called 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-Clubs, North 3-Clubs and South 5-Clubs.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

The play was nicely handled by the declarer, who won the lead of the heart Q with the A and immediately led a diamond. He then cashed the heart K to prevent a discard. Next he played the diamond A and ruffed a diamond with the club 7. East overruffed with the K and returned a club. South won this and ruffed another diamond. He then returned to his hand by means of a heart ruff to enable him to ruff his fifth diamond. A spade was then led and captured by East who had nothing to return but another spade or a trump. He chose the spade and South trumped, and drew East's remaining trumps. Only two tricks were lost by this method of play.

How should South play for 4-Spades after the lead of the club K?

Do not soak fresh fish in water before cooking. This treatment ruins the flavor and makes the fish soft.

When preparing fruit salad sprinkle bananas, peaches, pears and apples with lemon juice or marinate with French dressing as soon as they are cut. This prevents discoloration from exposure to air.

Lemons, Oranges Add To Jams

(The Home Kitchen)
By ALICE LYNN BARRY

THIS IS the season when good cooks "swap" recipes for jams, jellies and preserves. Kitchens are fragrant with the appetizing odor of cooking fruit. Cupboard shelves are hosts to rows of well-filled jars. The flavor and acid content of oranges and lemons make these fruits valuable additions to other fruits in many popular jellies, jams, and conserves. Slices of the unpeeled fruit, the grated peel or the juice may be used in cooking, and canning such fruits as pears, apples, apricots, peaches, figs and rhubarb. Inclusion of the peel will give a subtle fragrance as well as enhanced flavor.

Lemon Juice Helps.

The cloying sweetness of preserves is overcome by the addition of one tablespoon of lemon juice to each cup of fruit about two minutes before removing from heat. With conserves, one lemon sliced thin is added to each pint of fruit. This may be done with pear, peach, apricot, pineapple or tomato conserves. Experts recommend the use of a tablespoon of lemon juice and one teaspoon salt to each pint jar to increase the certainty of success in canning such vegetables as corn, artichokes, peas, beans, asparagus and greens.

Baked orange and peach jam is a sure-fire hit. No standing over a hot range to make this one—the oven does the job. Ingredients include two medium oranges, one lemon, one dozen fresh peaches and sugar. Cut unpeeled lemon and oranges in pieces and put through food grinder. Peel and slice peaches. Combine fruit. Measure an equal amount of sugar. Place in shallow pan and bake two hours in a slow oven (300 F.) Stir occasionally. This recipe yields about two pints.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Sept. 1.

WHILE THIS may be a particularly lively or exciting day, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects, it may not prove to be a particularly happy or successful one. There may be difficulties, inharmonies or disappointments in employment, especially in those professions in which writings, publishing, advertising or contracts of a business nature are involved.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be engulfed in a year of friction, vexation and loss that may affect their business or employment and have unhappy reactions in their private or home life. This might be caused by idle gossip or direct malicious attack from young people in working associations, especially if the contact relates to writings, publishing or contracts.

A child born on this day may be nervous, high strung, supersensitive and talkative to the extent of prevarication, gossip or misrepresentation. It should have early training and staunch discipline to correct such propensities.

The smell of peppermint is most obnoxious to mice. A little oil of peppermint placed about their haunts will soon make them look for other quarters.

If biscuits tip to one side during baking, the cutter was twisted when the biscuits were cut from the dough. Even a slight twist makes a biscuit tipsy.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I'm afraid Phil Veritzen is planning a terrible humiliation for Mary," I said slowly in reply to Lillian's query as to how the great producer had been acting toward his gifted daughter-in-law.

"The old buzzard!" Lillian exclaimed savagely. "How I wish I had the scalping of him! Tell me about it."

I obeyed her meticulously, relating not only Phil's insistence that she play the role as he had taught it to her, technically correct, but diabolically devoid of life in any syllable or gesture, but also outlining the plan by means of which I hoped to thwart him.

Before I had finished, Lillian was striking her hands together softly in applause, and when the last word of explanation had left my lips, she gave an enthusiastic but modulated "bravo."

Madge Confident.

"That ought to turn the trick," she said. "Old Phil's so devoted to his art with a capital 'A', and has made such a fetish of being the country's greatest judge of dramatic talent, that he simply won't be able to carry out his devilish plot against Mary if she blazes forth at rehearsal in a bang-up interpretation of that role. What's your opinion? Is she going to deliver the goods?"

"I think she is," I returned confidently. "She seems positively inspired when she's reciting the lines, and she's working like—"

"Like the devil, I hope," Lillian said, smiling impishly at me. "That, of course, virtually cinches the thing. Inspiration and perspiration — what a marvelous old team they are!"

I nodded, a bit wearily, for a sense of futility was creeping over me, induced I knew, by worry and fatigue, but very real, nevertheless. It seemed all of a sudden of no use to plan and work either for my niece or for my husband.

Read Her Despondency.

With the intuition which I frequently dubbed clairvoyance, Lillian read my despondency, and clapped the palm of her hand against my shoulders in a resounding slap.

"Buck up!" she said. "You're going to come out on top of the heap with both these messes. But you have been too close to 'em both for too long. Now you stop thinking about them, and listen while I spill you the lentils comprising the saga of Olga and Olina and their getaway from the hospital—and from old Phil."

"I am all ears," I said, and meant it, for curiosity had been almost at the boiling point since my receipts of the cryptic code message from my father, advising me of the impending arrival of the royal refugees.

"Of course, I don't know all that's behind this stunt," Lillian began, "even if your father did do Harry and me the signal honor of engineering the getaway of Olga and Olina. But you know the old dear even better than I do. He never spills one unnecessary bean pod until every trick has been turned, and he can sit back and do some justifiable gloating."

Familiar to Her.

"Yes, I know," I acquiesced, for I, was indeed familiar with this characteristic—and often irritating—attitude of my father.

"His summons to us came out of a clear sky," she went on, "and, incidentally, betrayed two things. First, he knew exactly where to find us, proving that through emissaries he has been keeping track of our exact whereabouts, and you may be very sure also that you do not sit down or get up again without his knowing about it."

She gave me a second to digest that statement and hug it to my heart in comfort before going on.

"Second," she said, "it proves that he hasn't left the country, but is within reasonably close proximity to us. I should say offhand that if you drew a circle indicating a hundred miles from a center which is New York City, you'd find him somewhere within that area. He may be right in the city, for all we know."

I thrilled to that thought, that when I returned to the city, perhaps I might be in close proximity to my father, then was chilled again by the realization that as far as contacting him went, he might as well be in another continent.

"Did you see him?" I asked, although I knew beforehand what the answer would be.

Learn Correct Ballroom Steps to Be Success.

Do the Correct Ballroom Shag.

Are you a jitterbug? Have you last your heart and feet to "swing?"

Even at a formal dance, it's not necessary to wait till everyone's doing the shag. Feel free as a bird to introduce it whenever you like.

But remember, the ballroom shag is a bit different from the kind danced in the Big Apple.

For the sake of lightness, dance high on the balls of the feet. For greater freedom, keep a little distance from your partner. Don't swing feet out and around but try to get as smooth an effect as you can.

Practice the double shag, shown in the diagram: (1) Step on left foot. (2) Hop on left foot, touching right toe back of left foot. (3) Jump lightly to right foot. (4) Hop on right foot, touching left toe back of right foot. (5) Take small light jump to left foot. (6) Small light jump to right foot.

Realistic School of Make-up

By MME. QUI VIVE

Right to the front of the beauty stage, directly in the limelight of fashion, is the new realistic school of makeup art. We're passing up the scenic complexion, we've put a ban of the stop-light blush Those ruddy red cheeks that got that way through contact with the rouge pad have faded to a modest wild rose. It's grand. There isn't the shrieking contrast between the painted face and the freshly washed one that confronted us a few years back.

Makeup is subtle, clothes are romantic, coiffures as quaint as an 1860 sunshade. The Fluffy girl is with us, with puffs atop her brow, ruffles from waistline to heels, jewelry snaked out of grandma's treasure box. Simplicity doesn't know where to hide its head. Some of us who are wrestling with the upped hairdress, spending tiresome movements getting curled tendrils in place, think lovingly of the old wind blown that was raked with a comb and left to its own playful devises. Oh well, other times, other ways. And the wind blown looks like the dickens now.

Even perfume is old fashioned, provocative. Sophisticated scents that knocked your nose silly have been shelved. We trot around in an aura of gardenia, mignonette, violet, rose.

New Colors.

This season's dress colors do not lend themselves graciously to vivid makeup, so even the rouge stick is toning down. Starlight blue, for instance, won't have a thing to do with lips that are tinted in Chinese red. This new color calls for a rich magenta This is a startling change in lip pigment, not as shocking as it might be when the complexion has been sun-kissed, taken on a gypsy richness.

Greens, so cool looking, so slenderizing and smart, fairly snarl at lips done in true red. One must select makeup of pompegranate or nasturtium. Black is not a summer color — it belongs to snowy seasons when fabrics are warm and rich—but if you do wear it you may revert to first makeup principles and give the lips a cherry or geranium coating.

As for hair! Were we ever in such a dither about hair? Last year's coiffure doesn't look right; it takes on the mournful mellowness of last year's hat. Yet the new fixings appear so bothersome and intricate that one falls into a state of despair. The happy choice, I think, is the fairly short cut done in rolls that don't creep so far upward that you can't keep them in order. Rolls at the neckline are neat; certainly not gaudy.

One coiffure law that must be obeyed; keep hair from curtaining your ears. Have it sleek back; you'll sport that freshly groomed look so necessary this season of the year.

OFFICER GOES ON STAND IN HINES TRIAL

Tells of Being 'Broken' in Rank After Raid on Policy Bank.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A New York policeman who was "broken"—reduced in rank from a plainclothesman to a uniformed "harness bull" after he had raided a Dutch Schultz Policy bank—was called to the witness stand by the state today in the conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines.

Previous witnesses testified that Hines, as the alleged political "fixer" for the Schultz racket syndicate, used his influence to cause the transfer of persistent police raiders to outlying districts.

The patrolman, Raymond B. Stilley, testified he raided a "drop" station of a Schultz-controlled policy bank when he was a member of Chief Inspector John J O'Brien's squad in 1933.

A short time later he was demoted and sent back into uniform from the chief inspector's squad, with a loss of $240 a year in pay.

Told of Squad's Shift.

George Weinberg, former business manager of the Schultz racket combine, has testified that he complained to Hines about the squad's raids and that subsequently nearly the entire squad was reduced to uniform

Meanwhile, it was indicated that Hines' defense lawyers would attempt to show that the testimony of five Connecticut residents that they saw Hines visit Schultz on friendly terms in the summer of 1935 was a case of mistaken identity.

The contention would be that the witnesses mistook a benign-looking "triggerman" of the Schultz mob, Larry Carney, for Hines.

Earlier, the defense recalled Dudley Brothwell, a laconic riding master from Fairfield, Conn., for renewed cross-examination on his story that he witnessed a meeting between Hines and Schultz in 1935

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, thus, in effect, also giving him a free hand

Want No Doubt.

The debate here showed no member of the government wavering and the main question at issue was the technique of approaching Hitler.

In view of the various signs of a more conciliatory German attitude in the Czech conflict—particularly the apparent willingness of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, to negotiate on the basis of Premier Milan Hodza's new proposals—the British cabinet is anxious to avoid making a conciliatory attitude more difficult for Hitler. At the same time, the ministers do not wish to leave Hitler in doubt as to Britain's intentions

One highly-informed source said:

"I believe the cabinet showed that if necessary, Britain is ready to fight"

PLANS ADDITION

Shelby Creamery to Build as Business Increases.

SHELBY—An addition costing approximately $5,000 is planned for the North Central Farm Bureau Creamery in this city, according to an announcement made today by W. L. Foust, general manager

The addition will be built west of the present site, Foust disclosed, and will be used as a storage room so that the present building can be entirely utilized for manufacturing purposes.

The company was recently awarded a large contract from one of the leading butter outlets in the east and for this reason, Foust stated, additional space was needed to package this butter into one pound rolls During the past weeks the creamery has manufactured an average of 20,000 pounds of butter each week and handles about 450 cases of eggs When the addition is completed, Foust said that the creamery would hire 10 or 15 more employes.

FINDS TRAIL OF SLAIN MURDERER TOUCHED CITY

Desperado, Slain in West on Aug. 5, Stole Auto Licenses Here. FBI Reports.

A 25-year-old sex fiend, jail breaker and murdered killed by bullets from a police posse in Hot Springs, Ark., last Aug 5 left a train in Mansfield last month, federal bureau of investigation learned as it traced his flight across the mid-west, Police Chief M K. Bates said today.

The fugitive, blamed for the abduction and murder of a 15-year-old Hot Springs girl, was known to federal investigators as Earl Young, 25, who embarked on series of crimes in the mid-west following his escape from a Lebanon Pa., jail, two and a half months ago

Stole Licenses Here.

Last July 16, Chief Bates said, Young was in Mansfield and stole the license plates from an automobile owned by G. W Taylor, 66 Parkwood boulevard The licenses were stolen while the automobile was parked in Taylor's garage

The chief said this fact was established through a check made by himself and FBI officers.

Young was killed in a Hot Springs hotel after a posse hunting him for the abduction and slaying of the girl cornered him in his room

At least a score of sex crimes, burglaries and minor thefts were blamed on the slain fugitive.

PLEA REJECTED

Court Holds Marriott's Suits Grounds for Action.

Ruling on a demurrer to personal damage suits totaling $5,088 filed by County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott and his wife, Mrs Rhea Marriott, Common Pleas Judge C. H Huston today held that the accusations in the petitions constitute grounds for action and agreed to ask for a judge from outside the county to hear the cases

The demurrer, filed by F. L Tinkey, Mansfield, defendant in the damage actions, had contended that there was no basis for suits Tinkey also had requested that another judge hear the case because of the prosecutor's connection with the county court

In her suit which was filed several weeks ago, Mrs. Marriott seeks $4,500 for injuries she suffered last Feb. 28 when a truck owned by the defendant collided with an automobile she was driving near her home in Woodland

The prosecutor filed an action asking $588 for damages to his car, driven by Mrs. Marriott, and for expenses incurred as the result of her injury.

Movie Cook's Tour.

For the persons who have never been to France and will have no opportunity to go there, the production of "Marie Antoinette" offers them a sort of "Cook's tour" of some of the famous points of interest An exact replica of the Palace of Versailles, made from photographs, was constructed on the M-G-M lot, showing the great stairway, the chapel, the ballroom and the magnificent gardens surrounding the Petit Trianon, and even the secret stairway on which the queen often met her lover, the young Count Axel de Fersen. Louis XIV devoted a life time to the building of the palace at Versailles Furnishings of the rooms are authentic, too. The supporting cast is headed by Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent and J. Edward Bromberg. Into a wierd wilderness of mystic temples, wells of death, native sorcery, poisonous blow-gun darts and other terrors, ventures Mr Moto in search of new adventures with which to thrill his followers. In lighter vein is the romance of Fredric March and Carole Lombard in "Nothing Sacred," a daffy comedy about a girl who is doomed to die of radium poisoning and an ambitious reporter.

"Dead End" Returns.

For its Wednesday and Thursday bill the Ritz presents two features of which "Dead End" is the most important The picture was made from the stage play, and a number of the players in the original Broadway production made their first picture appearance in the film, and have since remained to make other films The Dead End Kids, as they are now known, were in the stage show Joel McCrea, Sylvia Sidney, Humphrey Bogart, Wendy Barrie, Clair Trevor and Allen Jenkins head the cast. The action takes place in a dead end street in the tenement district back of a ritzy hotel, and revolves around the boys and girls who lived there. The second feature is "She Married An Artist" with John Boles, Frances Drake, Lulu Deste and others.

PAM—Return!

By A. W. Brewerton

PARKER DEPARTED NOISILY, WHISTLING AS HE STRODE DOWN THE HALL — IT IS NOW 1 45 O'CLOCK
THAT "MANNING KIDNAPING" WAS A TERRIBLE THING — A SWEET LITTLE BABY BOY — THE REPORTS SAID HE WAS KILLED LONG BEFORE THE RANSOM MONEY WAS PAID!
HOW AWFUL THAT HUMAN BEINGS CAN BE SUCH FIENDS! — AND — TO THINK, THAT MAN MAY BE ONE OF THE GANG! — MR PARKER'S PLAN IS NOT TO ARREST HIM HERE — THEY ARE GOING TO TRY TO TRAIL HIM, HOPING HE MAY LEAD THEM TO OTHERS — I'M NOT EVEN TO TELL COLONEL CAREY — LET HIM RETURN THE MAN'S BILLFOLD!
8-30
(Copyright 1938 by A. W. Brewerton) (Trade Mark Reg U S Pat Office)
I — I WONDER IF THE MAN WILL REALLY — COME BACK?
A FEW MINUTES LATER THE COLONEL RETURNED AND ALMOST ON HIS HEELS CAME THAT MAN!
WELL! IS HE BACK?
OH — OH, YES, HE'S HERE!
PAM IS TRYING DESPERATELY NOT TO TREMBLE!
